RALPH

McGILL

The Song of A Mockingbird?

Fevered minds in Mississippi, among the more irrational of the states rights extremists, are seeing visions. They are urging enough unpledged electors be voted in advance of the Democratic convention to blackmail that gathering into restoration of the two-thirds rule in electing nominees.

This is, to be sure, the time of the mockingbird, and if the political dreamers in the Magnolia State will give ear they can hear his song. The rule requiring two-thirds of the delegates to obtain nomination was a corrupting iniquity which will remain on exhibit in the museums devoted to political science.

In Jim Farley's book, "Behind the Ballots," there are traced in considerable detail the events which led to the abolishment of the two-thirds rule by the Democratic Party in 1936.

Two Farley quotes will do:

"I think (in 1932) every man at the meeting felt that the time had come for the Democratic Party to get rid of the undemocratic two-thirds rule which had grown into a kind of monster, blocking the path of party success and causing bitter deadlocks that ended in disaster for everyone."

Wise Leaders

The rule might have been abolished that year, but wise leaders succeeded in having the party drop it, since the proposal to change the rules had come "after the game had begun." It was eliminated by the convention of 1936. Of that decision Farley wrote:

"The obnoxious two-thirds nominating rule, by means of which the party had on so many occasions in the past strangled itself into suicide, was finally abandoned after more than a century of existence."

The Republican Party had gone along from the beginning on a simple majority rule. The two-thirds rule had been written into the Democratic Party in 1831 by the Southern states, which declared they needed it to prevent the free states of the West and North from being able to nominate an antislavery candidate. From that time until 1936, no Democrat could be nominated without a two-third vote.

Efforts were aimed to abolish it as early as 1840. Stephen Douglas was its persistent foe.

In 1924, Al Smith and William Gibbs McAdoo held onto their delegates for 102 ballots. McAdoo must bear the responsibility for wrecking the Democratic Party's chances to defeat the Republicans, smeared as they were by the ghastly crimes and corruptions of the Harding administration.

Expediency

McAdoo went whole hog for expediency and was riding any horse that came along. He privately accepted the Ku Klux Klan support. Although he was Woodrow Wilson's son-in-law, he traded away any support of the League of Nations because he believed it might hurt him. It was this unprincipled political expediency which made it impossible for most men of principle to support him. On the 103rd ballot, a compromise nominated John W. Davis, a Wall Street lawyer.

It was that convention which chiefly inspired the determination to abolish the two-thirds rule. In 1928, some of the Southern states unworthily refused to follow Al Smith, and this led to a further revulsion against the rule, which was by then supported only by the Southern states.

Whatever the merits of the rule, and they are but few, it is hardly likely the party will ever return to it. The same is true of States' Rights, a meaningless phrase at best, since the rights of states are protected by the Constitution of the United States. Thus far in our history, no state has lost any of the rights guaranteed to it, although one might assume, from all the clamor about it, the contrary to be true.

Politics necessarily changes with the times. To assume that the objectives of political leadership today be what they were 100 years ago is fantastic.

73 Pct. Back OpenSchools In Bar Poll

By BRUCE GALPHIN

The Atlanta Bar Assn. reported Friday that a poll of its membership indicates 73 per cent favor keeping public schools open under some plan permitting limited integration.

The only alternative, a majority of the group's executive committee declared, is to close all public schools in the state.

The Atlanta bar revealed its poll in a letter to the Sibley committee, which was holding its second closed-door meeting in Atlanta Friday.

CONTINUE DISCUSSION

The committee met from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in chairman John Sibley's offices at the Trust Company of Georgia. Only Rep. George Brooks was absent.

An official statement said only that "the committee continued its discussion leading towards preparations of its final report, which must be released on or before May 1."

STATE PREFERENCES

Asa W. Candler, president of the Atlanta lawyers' group, told chairman Sibley in the letter that all active members had been asked to state their preferences between:

"Continuation of the public school system under some plan (such as pupil placement, local option or the like) permitting limited integration," and

"Discontinuance of the public school system when integration is ordered by a court and provision thereafter for tuition grants to individual students for expenditure in private schools."

Candler said 462 lawyers, or

83 Charged On 3 Laws In Sitdowns

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Eighty-three Negroes were charged in a Fulton Criminal Court accusation Friday with conspiring to violate three Georgia laws during cafeteria sitdown demonstrations here March 15.

The accusation involved a demonstration at Sprayberry's Cafeteria at the Peachtree-Seventh Building.

Criminal Court Solicitor John I. Kelley said a second accusation also involving three misdemeanor violations will be filed in court next week in connection with a demonstration at the Peachtree-Baker Building cafeteria.

PEACE BREACH CHARGED

The accusation charges the Negroes with a breach of the public peace, seeking to intimidate the cafeteria owners and refusing to leave the premises of the cafeteria after being asked to do so.

Kelley pointed out that under misdemeanor law, any person who conspires to commit an offense or aids and abets it is guilty as a principal.

Thus, all persons who took part in demonstrations at the two mentioned buildings, at the courthouse, city hall, capitol and at train and bus stations, and students who signed a Negro human rights proclamation are jointly charged with the offenses at each eating place involved.

ONE PARTICIPANT

This results in the Sprayberry case listing defendants who did not participate in the demonstrations at that cafeteria. Kelly said none of the persons listed in the accusation was arrested at Sprayberry's, and that only one of them

Vandiver Convalesces Under Jekyll's Sun

JEKYLL ISLAND (AP) — Gov. Vandiver Friday tried the warm sun of Jekyll Island state park as a balm for his heart condition.

The chief executive and his family lolled on the beach under bright skies to begin a two-week convalescence prescribed by his doctor.

The Vandivers are staying in the residence leased by State Revenue Commissioner Dixon Oxford. It is the old mansion built by the Goodyears in the days of the old Jekyll Island Club.

New Satellite in Orbit, Ready to Eject Capsule For Air Catch Today

'Tomboy' Gives a Tea Party --- for Girls Only!

Lindy Casterton, 5 (right), the "tomboy" who until this week had nothing but boys for playmates, pours the tea Friday at a strictly "hen party" for her newfound girl friends: (L-R) Pamela Orr, 5; Amy Reese, 5; Sondralynn Haney, 9, and Cherlynn Haney, 5. Lindy's mother—Mrs. John Casterton of 3651 Kingsboro Rd., NE—expressed concern in a story in Thursday's Constitution that her child was getting to be "too much of a tomboy" because all her playmates were boys. Other mothers responded, and the situation Friday was "sugar and spice and everything nice." (Staff Photo—Darrell Thompson)

Planes Try Recovery Over Ocean

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Discoverer XI rocketed into polar orbit Friday, carrying a capsule which planes will try to snatch from the air Saturday as it descends near Hawaii.

Air Force officers said the 19-foot-long satellite achieved an almost perfect orbit, circling the earth's poles once every 92 minutes.

At the closest point, the 1,700-pound satellite will be 109 miles from the earth, at its farthest, 380 miles.

WEIGHS 300 POUNDS

The capsule—a 300-pound package of instruments sampling the conditions man will meet when he first goes into space—is to be ejected Saturday on the Satellite's 17th trip around the earth.

A squadron of C119 Flying Boxcars, trailing the trapeze-like devices beneath their fuselages, will be waiting aloft as the capsule parachutes down.

Starting at about 40,000 feet, each plane is expected to have 10 chances to drape the chute over its trapeze. If the maneuver is successful, the chute and capsule will be reeled into the plane.

SHIPS ASSIST

Should the air recovery fail, surface ships will be waiting in the area to fish the floating capsule from the water.

Six of the 10 previous satellites of the Discoverer series have achieved orbit, and five of them carried capsules. But for various technical reasons, recovery has never been achieved.

Friday's rocket, boosted by a Douglas Thor intermediate-range missile, shot aloft at 12:31 p.m. Pacific Standard Time.

State's GOP Faces Integration Battle

By GENE BRITTON

A former Eisenhower cabinet member, Sinclair Weeks, Friday urged Georgia Republicans to wage a hard fight under the Nixon banner against the Democrats while convention delegates braced for a battle among themselves over the school segregation issue.

Sources within the state party organization said a big floor fight may be brewing for Saturday when the 1960 Georgia Republican Convention is asked to accept a platform plank calling for continued public education in Georgia even at the cost of some integration.

The state party's resolutions committee, meanwhile, was preparing to submit a resolution to the floor Saturday expressing opposition to the county unit system—a voting practice of the state Democratic Party which centers overwhelming political strength in rural areas.

The committee was drafting a resolution calling for a revision of the system which would "reflect the rights of people in urban areas" regarding voting and representation in the Legislature.

Former Secretary of Commerce Weeks delivered the keynote address after the delegates convened Friday afternoon.

The convention is being held on a racially integrated basis in Atlanta's Municipal Auditorium.

Bank Raid Suspect's Car Is Found in Washington

By KEELER McCARTNEY

A rental auto in which a bank robbery suspect left Atlanta has been located in Washington, D.C., the FBI said Friday.

However, federal officers said they had not been able to locate John Richard Merit, 28-year-old former Army sergeant, wanted in the $8,335 robbery of a bank office here Monday.

C. E. Weeks, special agent in charge of the Atlanta FBI office, said the 1960 Chevrolet was turned in at a Washington office of the auto rental agency at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday — approximately 28 hours after the bank holdup.

Atlanta officers said the six-foot-tall Merit, who once resided in Silver Spring, Md., was believed to have left Atlanta at 9:30 p.m. Monday — six hours after the robbery at the Buckhead office of the Trust Company of Georgia.

A warrant was issued Thursday charging Merit with violating the federal bank robbery statute following a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden, Weeks said.

Paris Is Sealed Off In Kidnaper Hunt

PARIS (AP)—The safe return of little Eric Peugeot freed French police Friday for a broad hunt for his kidnapers, reported now well heeled with ransom money.

Roadblocks ringed Paris.

Special agents kept watch on traffic at airports and frontier points for suspects in the abduction of the 4-year-old heir to a French automobile empire from the children's playground of a country club Tuesday.

Eric was restored to his wealthy family after he was found on the sidewalk near a Paris bar early Friday.

A source close to his wealthy family said Eric's father, Roland Peugeot, paid off the kidnapers Thursday in used bills—not in gold as some had speculated—and that the agreed ransom was less than that originally demanded.

Published reports were that the kidnapers' asking price for Eric's safe return was $100,000 in French francs.

The newspaper France-Soir reported Peugeot said in an interview: "To get them to give Eric back to us, I scrupulously followed the conditions of the kidnapers. I had to have confidence in them. They asked me to bring the ransom to a precise place. I did it. Later there was nothing to do but wait."

In a transatlantic telephone interview with the New York Post Peugeot declared "I had no choice."

"I had to pay the ransom," he

Kennesaw Officer Fired; Revivalist Cases Voided

Kennesaw's mayor and council fired a police officer Friday night and voided charges on which seven revivalists had been convicted in recorder's court.

Deward Clackum was fired for helping Walton O. Folk, owner of a disputed building, break down a door the members of Meyerhardt Masonic Lodge No. 314 claim is theirs. Mayor Louie Watts said Clackum disobeyed orders against helping either side in the hassle.

All charges against The Rev. Jimmie Gable, the Rev. Charles Johnson, the Rev. Carl Wood, the Rev. Ernest McDaniel, Earl Hawkins and Doyle and Floyd Turner were dropped.

Folk was indicted by a Cobb County Grand Jury for disturbing a Masonic meeting when he broke in the door April 1.

According to the indictment, he "maliciously and intentionally" committed an "indecent act." Georgia law forbids anyone to disturb worship services or meetings of Masonic and other fraternal organizations by profane language, intoxication or "indecent acts."

Folk's trial will be Wednesday in the Cobb County Superior Court.

Democrats to Confer May 2 To Adopt Rules for Primary

Constitution State News Service

ALBANY — State Democratic Party Chairman James H. Gray Friday called a meeting of the party executive committee for Monday, May 2, in the House of Representatives chamber in Atlanta.

The meeting is being called to adopt rules and regulations governing the state Democratic primary, to be held Sept. 14.

Qualifications for the primary probably will be on the agenda at the May 2 meeting.

Plans for the national convention also will be discussed, and delegates may be named.

Earlier, Gray had announced a subcommittee of the executive committee will meet April 25 at Radium Springs to draw up preliminary rules.

Gov. Vandiver, who will still be on his recuperation vacation, will not attend the subcommittee meeting, Gray added.

State offices up for election this year include a senatorial seat held by Sen. Russell, 10 seats in the U.S. House, seven appellate judgeships and two members of the Public Service Commission.

The subcommittee will not attempt to select delegates to the Los Angeles convention, Gray explained. That will be left up to the governor.

New national party regulations provide that the state may split its convention votes as many as three times and may send one alternate for each vote. In addition, the national committeeman and national committeewoman have a half-vote each.

That will give Georgia a maximum of 130 delegates and alternates, the chairman said.

However, Gray added, Gov. Vandiver has not decided yet whether to split votes into halves or thirds.

Some 175-200 persons have expressed interest in being delegates, Gray said.

Delegates will have to pay their own expenses to Los Angeles, he added.

4,000 Led by Castro Push Rebels Up Peak

By MARTIN W. HOUSEMAN

BAYAMO, Oriente, Cuba (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro led 4,000 weary government troops up the slopes of lofty Turquino Peak Friday night for a knockout blow against anti-government guerrilla forces holed up in the Sierra Maestra Mountains.

The bearded rebel leader divided his combined force of army regulars and worker's militia into two 2,000 - man units to close in from the east and west on the 8,000-foot high stronghold of ex-Army Major Manuel Beaton, reported to have between 80 and 100 anti-government dissidents under his command.

CLIMAX NEARS

The pincers move was expected to produce a climax in the week-long drive against Beaton within 48 hours. Between 800 and a thousand army "barbudos," bearded veterans of Castro's own guerrilla campaign, were reported to be already in encircling positions.

Castro's last known headquarters were at Minas del Fria on the Sierra slopes Thursday and it was believed he was further into the mountains Friday. Castro rejected the volunteer services of a force of Havana Military Academy teen - age militiamen Thursday night as "too young" and turned them back at La Plata, his former command post during the 1956-58 guerrilla campaign against the forces of then dictator Fulgencio Batista.

MAY BE TRAPPED

Indicating that Beaton and his men might be trapped by the relentless government pursuit, revolutionary sources claimed four additional surrenders in the Sierra Maestra foothills in the past 24 hours. This would bring to seven the number of dissidents claimed by the government to have put down their arms since the Castro-led campaign got underway a week ago.

The fact that government troops also were active in the mountain area between El Cobre and Palma Soriano lent weight to reports Beaton might have split up his force into two groups.

Other reports of new anti-government guerrilla groups operating in the Sierra Cristal north coast range of Oiente were denied by government sources.

$12,000 Salary Can Buy As Much as $5,000 in '39

NEW YORK (UPI)—The $12,000 a year man of 1960 is left with the purchasing power of the $5,000 a year man of 1939 after taxes and inflation have taken their bit, according to the National Industrial Conference board.

In 1939, the husband and father of two with a gross salary of $5,000 had $4,941 to spend after taxes, the conference board points out in its weekly "road maps of industry" series.

Today, his counterpart must earn $12,307 to net the same amount, the report adds. He has forfeited $5,489 to inflation and paid $1,877 in federal and social security taxes.

The $3,000 a year man of 1939 must be earning $7,155 today just to "break even" in terms of purchasing power. In 1939, he paid $30 in taxes and brought the balance home. Today, his taxes are $885, while inflation takes another $3,300.

S. Africa's Negroes Face Loss of Schools

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — The South African government warned Friday that all Negro schools might be closed permanently if Negroes responded to the stay-home call by the outlawed African National Congress next week.

The underground "executive committee" of the ANC urged all Negroes to participate in a one-week work stoppage beginning Monday to protest the white supremacy laws of the government of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd.

The appeal was made in mimeographed leaflets distributed in native townships around Johannesburg. Negroes make up the major working force in South Africa and a previous stay-home movement crippled the nation's economy. Police broke up that boycott with raids and arrests.

First official reaction to the new call came from Minister of Bantu (native) Education W.A. Maree. He warned that native teachers must report for duty after the Easter holidays end Tuesday and on subsequent days. He said also that parents must see that their children attend classes in the normal way.

Maree said police would provide all possible protection for teachers, pupils and parents carrying out their duties. If parents or teachers submit to "intimidation," he warned, the department of Bantu Administration and Development would be compelled to give serious consideration to closing schools permanently.

Police officials reported Friday the attempted assassination of a government-appointed tribal chief at King Williams Town near East London 10 days ago by unknown assailants who escaped. The district commandant said shots were fired into the home of chief NDABA of the Fingo tribe, smashing windows and peppering ceilings and walls. No one was hurt.

Authorities continued to maintain secrecy around David Pratt, the white English-born farmer, who tried to assassinate Verwoerd last Saturday.

A medical bulletin Friday said Verwoerd was recovering rapidly, and was suffering less pains from his wounds. He was shot twice in the head. There has been no attempt yet to remove the bullets.

FAA Finds Electra Is Airworthy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Aviation Administrator E. R. Quesada said Friday night a special inspection of Electra propjet airplanes has turned up nothing thus far that would warrant grounding the Electra fleet.

"In 52 Electra aircraft inspections to date, the findings do not indicate a need for imposing additional limitations on the aircraft," Quesada said.

"Although all of the results of these tests have by no means been fully analyzed, nothing has been revealed to date which would warrant the grounding of the fleet," he added.

Quesada issued his statement several hours after Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind) said the FAA chief had rejected a recommendation by the Civil Aeronautics Board that all uninspected Electras be grounded.

"I am shocked that Gen. Quesada would take the chance of ignoring this advice and risk further death from these planes," Hartke said.

The CAB has been investigating the crash of an Electra near Tell City, Ind., last month with the death of all 63 persons aboard.

Robert E. Gross, board chairman of Lockheed Aircraft Corp., which manufactures the Electra, said, "In our considered opinion, the Electra is fully safe and airworthy."

DAUGHTER LED ASTRAY?

Beverly's Mother Released on Bail

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Beverly Aadland's platinum-haired mother, accused of leading her daughter astray in wine-drinking bouts, was released on bail Friday and granted a continuance of her arraignment until Monday.

The 53-year-old Mrs. Florence Aadland who spent the night in a county jail cell, was brought before Superior Judge John G. Barnes on a district attorney's complaint charging her with contributing to the delinquency of her 17-year-old daughter, once the globe-trotting playmate of the late actor Errol Flynn.

AT JUVENILE HALL

Beverly herself remained in custody at juvenile hall where she will stay at least until May 2 when juvenile court judge Donald Odell will decide at a hearing who will have custody of her until she is 18.

The mother was granted a continuance of her arraignment before Judge Barnes when she said she needed time to get a lawyer. A bail bondsman a short time later arranged her release, posting $1,050.

Mrs. Aadland was arrested late Thursday at her Hollywood apartment where one of her daughter's friends, William (Billy the Kid) Stanciu, a bit actor, suffered a fatal gun-shot wound last Saturday.

Beverly first told police Stanciu shot himself because she refused to marry him. After a lie detector test, she said he was wounded in the head during a nude struggle on her bed over a gun.

PHOTOGRAPHS SHOWN

A friend of Stanciu, Bob Profeta, showed police photographs he said he took at a wine-drinking party at the Aadland apartment three weeks ago. Some of the photos showed Beverly and her mother in informal attire with men friends, including Stanciu.

The complaint issued by District Attorney William B. McKesson was based in part on evidence indicated in the photographs.

The five-count complaint charged that Mrs. Aadland permitted Beverly to drink intoxicating liquors; indulged in intimacies with a sailor in Beverly's presence; permitted Beverly to occupy a bed with a male; and failed to provide supervision for Beverly while she (the mother) was in the hospital last week.

Mrs. Aadland said she was hospitalized for treatment of bruises inflicted by Stanciu during a quarrel over his attentions to Beverly.

Negro Conference Sets Off Fist Fights

From Press Dispatches

A flurry of fist fights broke out between pickets and onlookers Friday in Raleigh, N.C., where Negro college students from several Southern states are meeting to discuss future lunch counter demonstration policies.

Police reported a white youth who joined Negro demonstrators said he was knocked down and beaten by a white man. The youth, identified as John J. Northrop, 23, a student at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, Rochester, N. Y., was picketing against lunch counter segregation. He suffered a cut on the chin which required seven stitches to close. The white man was not identified.

This first violence in Raleigh in more than a month led Mayor W. G. Enloe to call a special session of City Council to act on an ordinance requiring pickets to march in single file, from six to eight feet apart, and restricting the size of their signs.

JOINED BY NEGROES

The pickets were joined by Negro college students assembling in Raleigh for an Easter weekend conference which may lead to a recommendation that Negroes begin a campaign of selective buying from merchants.

The South's wave of demonstrations and boycotts continued.

Five Negroes were arrested in Memphis, Tenn., for refusing orders to leave a public museum which operates on a segregated basis—open to Negroes only on Tuesdays.

BACKED BY NAACP

Sharp division appeared between rival Negro organizations in Savannah, Ga., over conduct of boycotts by Negroes against stores with segregation policies. One group, the Negro Protective League, announced its opposition to boycotts.

The pro-boycott group, however, with NAACP support said the movement will continue. It is demanding lunch counter desegregation, better job opportunities for Negroes and withdrawal of prosecution of 33 Negroes arrested in sitdown demonstrations.

Other developments included:

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.: Negroes led by the Arkansas NAACP president picketed two downtown stores where eight Negro students were arrested during sitdown demonstrations Wednesday.

COLUMBIA, S.C.: A Richland County, S.C., man reported a group of Negroes burned a five-foot cross in his yard.

PETERSBURG, Va.; Picketing of Petersburg stores with segregated lunch counters continued. Picketing of various stores continued in Richmond, Va., Greensboro, Raleigh and Wilmington, N.C.

U.S. to Pare Spending For Farms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department estimated in testimony made public Friday that farm spending next year will be about $98,500,000 less than President Eisenhower originally predicted if the department's proposal to cut grain storage rates takes effect July 1.

The disclosure failed, however, to still congressional clamor for a further tightening up of the government's dealings with commercial warehouses.

The department, which has not yet made a final decision on the proposed new rates, gave its estimate of the prospective savings in testimony before a House Agriculture Appropriations subcommittee.

It said its proposed 19 per cent reduction in rates paid grain storage firms would mean an outlay of $612,900,000 for storage and handling of government - owned farm surpluses in the new fiscal year starting July 1. That would be only $900,000 more than this year.

That compared with $711,400,000 originally budgeted for the program.

Drenched Chou Keeps Smile At Rangoon's Water Festival

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai of Communist China emerged from behind the Bamboo Curtain Friday to open a campaign of smiles in Southeast Asia. He was inundated with friendly welcome.

Thousands of Burmese were celebrating their annual water festival as he arrived from Peiping and Chou was drenched to the skin. Chou joined in the celebration, which involves throwing water and being soaked in return as a sign of good will and friendship before the Burmese New Year Saturday.

DRESSES IN COSTUME

The suave Communist leader, usually sober and determined, seemed to enjoy himself. He shook hands eagerly and dressed himself in Burmese costume — bright yellow head binding, orange-yellow jacket (Premier U Nu's party colors), green checked sarong and rubber slippers with orchid toe straps. He rode through town in an open truck.

It was a fitting and, for Chou, a happy beginning to a three-nation tour aimed at restoring the peaceful image of Red China that was sharply damaged by Communist suppression of last year's revolt in Tibet.

GOES TO INDIA

From Rangoon, the 52-year-old Communist leader travels to New Delhi Tuesday for talks with Indian Prime Minister Nehru about 51,000 square miles of disputed border territory. Clashes between Chinese troops and Indian police have raised Indian charges of Chinese invasion and damaged Peiping's carefully constructed peaceful coexistence campaign in India.

From New Delhi Chou goes on to the Himalayan kingdom of Nepal for more talks. The Chinese attempted to put on a peaceful face for the New Delhi talks by signing a border agreement last month with Nepalese Prime Minister B. P. Koirala. But when Koirala got home from Peiping he complained the Chinese wanted to take over his country's greatest natural wonder, Mt. Everest. He said the world's tallest mountain would remain Nepalese territory.

Arriving at Rangoon Airport, Chou was welcomed by U Nu as "an old friend whose great contribution toward Chinese-Burmese friendship is already a matter of recorded history."

In reply, Chou thanked his "Dear Burmese friends" for inviting him to come one day early for the water festival. "True friends and neighbors always get together on festive occasions," he said.

The two leaders start formal talks Saturday, but little of major import is expected. Gen. Ne Win, the chief of the army, negotiated a border pact with Chou earlier this year before he relinquished the prime minister's post to U Nu, whose party won the February elections.

12,000 Walk Way of Cross

By WILTON WYNN

JERUSALEM (AP)—Soldiers of peace marched along the Way of the Cross Friday.

Brazilian and Swedish troops of the U. N. Emergency Force were among pilgrims estimated to number 12,000 who followed heavy wooden crosses on Good Friday along the route Jesus took from his trial before Pilate to his crucifixion and burial.

The UNEF troops stationed along the Egyptian-Israeli armistice line in Gaza and Sinai have kept the peace between the two warring states since 1957. Jerusalem is a popular leave center for them.

A few blue berets of the UNEF men could be seen in the vast throng of pilgrims representing Christian communities as far apart as Texas and the Philippines.

It was the hottest Good Friday in years. With the temperatures soaring into the high 80s, the sun beat down mercilessly on pilgrims. Several fainted from the heat.

The procession was divided into language groups each carrying a big cross and stopping at each of the 14 stations of the cross for a sermon and prayers in their own language.

Marching under arches and vaulted ceilings of the narrow streets in Old Jerusalem, the pilgrims encountered many of the sights, sounds and smells of Biblical times.

Near the sixth station, the English language group was chanting "Give us this Day our daily Bread" while from a stone-vaulted hovel to their right came the smell of baking bread. The Arab baker inside was cooking flat loaves, typical of Palestine since Jesus' day.

The procession turned past the seventh station down the main bazaar street entirely covered by a stone-vaulted ceiling with the sun filtering through dusty skylights. Here the air was heavy with the smell of oriental spices, acrid tobacco smoke and broiling kebab. The chant of the Koran could be heard from radios in Moslem shops.

From behind the English language group could be heard the plaintive wails of weeping Egyptians—belonging to the ancient Coptic Rite and using the language of the Pharoahs in their liturgy.

More than 2,000 Egyptian pilgrims flew into Jerusalem for this Easter pilgrimage.

American women in sleeveless blouses and men in checkered sports shirts contrasted with Syrian women in black and wearing veils. The Americans were busily taking photographs while the Syrians wept at each station of the cross.

One of the most unique processions was that of Aleppo Syrians. On their cross hung implements connected with the crucifixion—a hammer, a spear, a whip, and a sponge. Preceding the cross was a double row of young men dressed as Roman soldiers, carrying swords and shields.

Capital Hopes to Pay Debt, Vows to Keep Up Air Service

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Capital Airlines' directors, voicing hope that they can solve their financial troubles, said Friday that there would be no interruption of service by the airline.

Capital President David H. Baker made the statement after a day-long board meeting.

Vickers-Armstrong, Ltd., British maker of Capital's fleet of 56 Viscount airliners, has threatened the carrier with foreclosure for non-payment of money owed on the planes. Capital is about $11,981,000 behind in payments.

Grady Investigates Abuses by Patients

Free Care Obtained by Many Who Can Pay, Authority Told

By MARION GAINES

The Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority, after hearing concern expressed that Grady Hospital is "being ridden free by some people who are able to pay," was told Friday that an immediate study will be launched of patient eligibility and drug fees.

Fred J. Turner, board chairman of the authority, said authority member L. L. Gellerstedt will direct the study and added: "We think we're being ridden free by some people who are able to pay (for treatment) at private hospitals."

The authority heard Frank Wilson, hospital administrator, report that Grady was "within the budget through March 31 by $80,000."

But he said the cost of hospital drugs was "over (the budget) by $12,000" and could well result in a $50,000 deficit in that area "by the end of the year."

Referring to charges for drugs and out-patients, Wilson told the authority it appears that "we've got to raise our fees."

Authority member Scott Candler Sr. suggested a study of the possibility of converting Grady's vacant seventh and 10th floors into private wards for which higher fees could be charged.

The authority also:

(1) Approved the payment of $25,000 to Emory University for a strip of land needed for construction of a new nurses' home.

(2) Proceeded with plans for an $80,000 facility to be set up in an unfinished area of the hospital's second floor for heart, lung and kidney research and patient-care. Emory and Grady are each to furnish $30,000 for the facility with the federal government putting up $20,000.

Big Garage To Go Up On Luckie

A three-story building at the southwest corner of Luckie and Fairlie sts., NW, will be demolished to make way for a multi-level parking garage.

Central Parking, Inc., operator of a number of parking facilities in the downtown area, has leased the property for 51 years from the owners, Mrs. Clara McConnell and Mrs. Lillian Roberts.

A garage building designed by Tucker and Howell, Atlanta architects, will replace the structure which until recently was occupied by Belmont Steak House on the ground floor and upstairs by Southern Business University and other offices. Officials estimated the building will be ready for use by fall.

The amount of the lease is more than $650,000 over the 51 years, Sam M. Weyman of Weyman and Co., realtors, said.

Hartsfield Agrees On Stone Mountain

Mayor Hartsfield says he agrees with the recommendation of a group of artists that the carvings of the Confederate Memorial on Stone Mountain be left unfinished.

A group of artists has recommended that the Stone Mountain commission leave the monument unfinished as a tribute to a great "unfinished cause."

Cafe Fire Ties Up Traffic on Forsyth

A grease fire that engulfed a stove in the Eagle Cafe on Forsyth street backed Easter traffic for blocks and gave a dozen pieces of fire equipment a workout as they weaved through the crowded streets.

"I saved three orders, night cook Cleveland King said from his smoke-filled, fireman-filled kitchen. "Got them right out and went back to fighting the fire. They were a hamburger steak, a mixed seafood platter and a fried snapper steak.

3 Gunmen Rob Grocer Of $100

Three shotgun-armed Negro bandits late Friday robbed a grocer in southwest Atlanta of $100, a $75 wrist watch, a box of cigars and a handful of costume jewelry, police said.

David Gershon, operator of a store at 813 Cooper St., SW, said he was placing a produce order on the telephone when the three entered, one baring a sawed-off shotgun.

"This is a holdup . . . hang up the telephone," Gershon said he was told.

ONE KEPT GUARD

Gershon said he hesitated and the gunman angrily broke the connection.

A second man hurdled the counter and emptied the cash register into his pockets, Gershon related. He said the third walked to the rear of the store and stood by until the robbery was completed.

Donald Cameron, 402 Oliver St., NW, a butcher in the store, and a helper, Ronald Smarr, 14, were forced to stand by during the holdup.

ASKED FOR GUN

After taking the money, Gershon said the three demanded his wrist watch, then helped themselves to a box of cigars and an assortment of inexpensive rings.

"Where's your gun?" one demanded.

Told that he had no gun, they turned and strolled from the store.

Lt. G. H. Christian said the trio fit the description of bandits who have used a sawed-off shotgun in previous robberies here.

Settelmayer's Plea Put Off; Lawyer Ill

Illness of his attorney Friday caused another delay in John Settelmayer's appeal of his dismissal as Atlanta Public Library director.

Judge Luther Alverson postponed a hearing on the case in Fulton Superior Court until 2 p.m. May 6.

At the same time, he granted a two-week leave of absence to the attorney, Houston White, who presented a certificate from his family physician. The physician said White, in his opinion, was not physically able to conduct a trial at this time.

The physician, who said White was suffering from influenza and acute sinusitis, recommended White have two weeks' rest in a warmer climate.

Earlier in the day, Judge Alverson fined White $200 or 10 days in jail for contempt of court for a remark he made in discussing a ruling the judge had made in a child custody case which had been on trial before the Settelmayer hearing was to come up.

White represented parties involved in that case.

Miss Atlanta Race Off with a Mixup

This is how it was Friday night at preliminaries of the 1960 Miss Atlanta pageant:

There were 20 girls. Most were slender. Most were blonde—about three to one—and all were talented.

The contest, held at the Community Playhouse on Peachtree street, had a bad time of it for awhile.

No one could say exactly how it happened, but a nearby radio station got in on the act.

Melanie Stevens, one of the contestants, was singing, "Cry Me a River."

You could see her lips moving, but that was all. The audience heard something else—the radio station's frequency somehow got picked up by the playhouse amplifier system.

And what the audience heard was a session of highbrow opera.

But to make up for it, emcee Bob McKee asked the audience to clap doubly hard for Miss Stevens.

Despite the errant amplifier system, the contest was spiced by a variety of talent—dancing, singing, baton twirling, mimicry and drama.

Especially drama.

And the REAL drama occurred after the show was over, when a reporter started toward the wings to get the names of the winners.

A square-faced man in a black suit planted himself in front of the reporter and said:

"Hold it a minute, fella. Where do you think you're going?"

"Want to get the names of the winners."

The man in the black suit was identified later as a member of the Glenwood Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the pageant.

At this particular moment he was putting his hands on the reporter to give him the bum's rush.

The reporter strongly indicated his dislike for the man's hands.

The man dropped his hands and said:

"You'll have to wait out front."

They glared at each other.

But it was straightened out in a moment. Charles Bufford, the pageant's publicity agent, came up to talk it over.

The reporter asked for the names of the winners. "That's why we're covering it," he said.

"We can't give you any winners tonight," Bufford said. "After all, we've got to get this crowd back in here tomorrow night."

Forest Fires Sweep Lookout Mountain

Constitution State News Service

ROME — Flames driven by brisk, shifting winds threatened to reach the populated peak of Lookout Mountain Friday as firemen battles numerous scattered fires on the steep slopes for the second day.

State forestry officials said the most menacing fire on the western side of the mountain was apparently under control Friday night.

The blaze, fed by heavy brush and trees that had fallen during the recent ice storm, came dangerously close to homes and buildings on the crest of the mountain. Foresters said the only fire still out of control Friday night was on the southern slope, a safe distance away from developed areas.

Four planes, including an aerial bomber, were rushed into the region where 169 fires have been reported in the past two weeks. Officials said more than 1,000 acres of timber has been destroyed on Lookout alone in the past two days.

Burning of underbrush by property owners was blamed by the commission for the situation getting out of hand. Robert Gore, state investigator, said five agents moved into the section Friday to check on violations of a law requiring advance notice of brush burning.

The March ice storm plagued the fire fighters Friday. They were hampered by tree tops and limbs which fell under the weight of the ice, providing dry fuel for the flames.

Julian Reeves, Seventh District forester with headquarters here, set up an emergency fire fighting camp at LaFayette in Walker County. Additional men, mobile kitchens, a trailer and supply vehicles moved toward the camp from Macon.

Cook Asked To Rule on Convict Use

Corrections Director Jack Forrester asked Atty. Gen. Cook Friday to rule officially on the question of using convicts for church-ground and cemetery maintenance.

His action followed an assertion by State Auditor B. E. Thrasher that the state constitution specifically forbids the practice.

Cook said he expected to have an opinion on the matter ready by next Wednesday.

The controversy arose after convicts from the Lowndes County Public Works Camp were used to do work at the Central Avenue Church of Christ in Valdosta.

Forrester said Thursday that the Board of Corrections a year ago had adopted a regulation permitting prisoner work in churchyards and cemeteries.

THERE WAS A VACANT
seat at Sunday School last Sunday. Was it yours? I hope not, but if so, did it have to be? Some chairs were empty because of illness, jobs, and other necessary reasons, yet some were empty just because some folks were lazy. Maybe others were empty because the wrong chairs at the wrong places were filled Saturday night.
IF YOU WERE THERE
(at Sunday School) did the empty chair belong to someone you should have invited or brought to Sunday School?
UNLESS JOB,
health, or other necessary reasons prevent, won't you fill your seat and help fill others at Sunday School this Sunday? Remember, it is the best place on earth to go for a joy-filled heart, a happier home, a better community and a greater America.
NOW THAT THE
Atlanta Board of Education, members of which are public officials elected by the voters of Atlanta, have voted unanimously in electing a new School Superintendent (a function that Board Members, and Board Members only, are authorized to perform), it is right that all citizens, whether we like the decision or not, join in support of the board and the new superintendent in helping to make the Atlanta School System bigger and better.

Atlanta Bar Assn. Faces Up to Facts And Takes a Stand for Public Schools

The Atlanta Bar Assn. and its executive committee are to be highly commended for their decision to take a stand on the most vital issue now facing Georgia and this community. Because of the nature of the association and the quality of its membership, the action is significant and a public service of the highest order.

In a poll of membership, 462 lawyers expressed their preference about whether to continue public schools under some plan permitting limited integration or to discontinue public schools when integration is ordered and convert to a system of tuition grants for private schools. The latter is present Georgia law.

A total of 337 lawyers—73 per cent of those voting—decided for continuing public schools. Attorneys voting for closing public schools, 27 per cent, numbered 125.

According to President Asa W. Candler of the association, this was one of the heaviest responses to an association poll in recent history. It represented about 60 per cent of those eligible to vote under association rules. It thus provides a clear-cut decision and becomes the official stand of the association as presented to the Sibley study commission.

Even more significant is the statement by the majority of the association's executive committee on the legal aspects of the question brought on by the 1954 Supreme Court decision. And on this, the committee does not equivocate.

"Viewing this problem as lawyers," the committee said, "we see certain factors about which there should be no question." The statement continues:

"It is expressly provided in the Constitution of Georgia of 1945, Article XII, that the 'Supreme Law' of Georgia shall be the Constitution of the United States, the laws of the United States in pursuance thereof and all treaties made under the authority of the United States. Our State Constitution provides further that 'next in authority' shall be the State Constitution, and third, 'in subordination to the foregoing,' laws passed by the General Assembly. This order of precedence is essential to the federal system under which our nation is organized.

"It is likewise clear that the current decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court construing the Federal Constitution are controlling on this issue. They are, as they must necessarily be in our federal system, controlling on both state and federal courts and state and federal officials in construing the Federal Constitution.

"It is now clear that unless some plan involving the feasibility of limited integration is accepted in accordance with orders of the federal courts, all public schools of the state will be closed. The problem extends to elementary schools, high schools and the colleges and universities of our university system. It extends also to the public training of teachers for replacement in public and private schools throughout the state."

This illuminating statement of fact which states what the law is and not what many would like it to be should help clarify public confusion created by those who have tried to lead the people to believe that state law is supreme and that decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court are not necessarily binding.

These are not views which can be dismissed as those of extremists, of leftists, of newspapers or an individual. They are the considered majority opinion of one of the most responsible and able legal bodies in the nation. They know the time for wishful thinking is past and that facts must be faced.

If ever we needed to face facts, that time is now. Anger, frustration and demagoguery will not serve. Thoughtful citizens everywhere can but be grateful to the Atlanta Bar Assn. for making the alternatives perfectly clear.

Excellent Advice Given Stone Mountain Panel

We find ourselves in hearty agreement with the jury of distinguished artists which met in Atlanta at the invitation of the Stone Mountain Memorial Assn. and its advisor, Lamar Dodd. Mr. Dodd, who is one of the nation's most respected artists, is on "loan" to the association from the University of Georgia where he is head of the art department.

The committee thinks it is best to touch up the unfinished carving on the side of the mountain, clean the figures by sandblasting and go no farther with it. The memorial has suffered from exposure and freezes and there is grave doubt it could be completed.

The committee thinks there should be some statuary, or monuments, in the foreground. But a refurbishing of the work begun, a sandblasting of it to make it stand out by contrast with the darker stone about it and the creation of a park at the mountainside complete the recommendations.

This seems to us a logical and admirable suggestion and we trust the association will adopt it.

Walter Paepcke's Deeds Advanced Cultural Life

In the passing of Walter P. Paepcke, the United States has lost one of its most valuable citizens.

His business was the Container Corporation of America, which he built into the largest in its field. But he was also a major contributor to the nation's culture and its ethical values through the Aspen Institute and many other agencies devoted to music and art to which he gave unstintingly of his time, money and abilities.

Born in Chicago, the son of a German immigrant, he created one of the traditional American success stories. But he always insisted that American businessmen tend to overspecialize in their own material interests and do not devote enough time and effort to developing the nation's cultural potential.

As president, and after 1946 chairman and chief executive officer of the Container Corp., he made its advertising distinctive and provocative. The great thoughts of philosophers appeared in it, as did reproductions of many of the more notable paintings of the modern and classical schools.

He developed Aspen (Colo.) into a resort and cultural center. He brought to its opening the majestic and inspiring Dr. Albert Schweitzer. This, he said, set a standard for all literate, musical and cultural events which followed.

Much of his labor in behalf of cultural and ethical values was in his home city of Chicago but his influence was national. The Constitution joins his great host of friends and admirers in sorrow at his passing.

Presidential Primaries Are Costly 'Eyewash'

There were a couple of items in the news yesterday which are related.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey's campaign headquarters frankly announces it is broke. There is a $10,000 debt left over from the Wisconsin primary. They have a borrowed $2,000 on hand to spend in the West Virginia contest.

The second item comes from former President Truman who again declared that primaries are a lot of eyewash, expensive, exhausting and prove nothing.

They also pose a problem for American democracy.

Sen. Jack Kennedy happens to be a wealthy man in his own right with an even wealthier father. His brothers gave him, for example, a $400,000 airplane to use in his campaign. There is nothing wrong with this. But there is something wrong with the primary system.

Sen. Humphrey serves merely as a symbol of any man lacking wealth who might wish to run for office against one who does. It is easy to see at a time when running for the U.S. Senate costs from $200,000 to $400,000, depending on the size of the state, that fewer and fewer Americans can afford to run.

West Virginia's primary is really eyewash—a popularity contest. The results do not even bind the delegates.

We join President Truman in condemning the primary system as it now exists in a handful of states.

Slum Placarding Law Is Essential to Atlanta

A bill whereby slums will be placarded is to be introduced at Monday's meeting of the Atlanta aldermanic board.

None should object to the measure with the possible exception of unscrupulous property owners who have grown fat, financially speaking, at the expense of their tenants' health, happiness and welfare.

Dwellings unfit for humans to live in should be labeled as such. Signs to that effect should serve as a deterrent to certain owners who spend nothing for upkeep while extracting all they can to stuff into their pocketbooks.

Placards also would be a means of putting prospective tenants on notice as to the condition of the property.

The sooner the proposed ordinance becomes law the better for the community.

Is There Hope Mr. Average Is Dropping Screen of Anonymity for Self-Expression?

Lakemont — There is hope! The April 12 issue of The Constitution carried J. Kesner Kahn's letter concerning the need for personal sovereignty.

On that day two letters taking the unpopular side were signed. More and more such letters are being signed. Is there less fear driving the public to hide behind anonymities?

Is there now room for reprinting snatches from Thoreau's "On the Duty of Civil Disobedience":

"There is but little virtue in the actions of masses of men" or ". . . imagine a state . . . just to all men . . . treating the individual with respect . . .?"

Or bits from Tom Paine's "Common Sense":

"Men who look upon themselves born to reign, and others to obey . . . grow insolent . . . their minds poisoned by importance . . . often the most ignorant and unfit (in the nation)."

Are we perhaps moving forward? May we take upon ourselves once more the responsibility for decency and decent government?

Texan Asks Support For Red Cross Work

Austin, Tex. — The American Red Cross deserves our support. Thousands of people in distress have been helped by it. Whenever there are storms, floods or other disasters it is the Red Cross that is on hand to help the people who are in distress. In war and peace the Red Cross helps the men and women in the military service with their problems.

During World War II, I served in the Women's Army Corps and when I was on the Lurline Luxury Liner on the Pacific sailing for Hollandia, Dutch, New Guinea in the Southwest Pacific, the Red Cross gave each of the 4,400 military passengers a bag full of useful gifts for Christmas.

While I was in New Guinea the Red Cross furnished materials and gave us instructions in handicrafts such as rug weaving, knitting, leather work and painting. When I was a patient in the hospital the Red Cross passed out reading material on many desired subjects.

He Contradicts Critic Of Ben-Gurion Speech

Atlanta — On March 31 your paper carried a letter from James Batal accusing Israel's Prime Minister Ben-Gurion, who visited the United States recently, of duplicity in assuring Americans of Israel's peaceful aims. To prove his point, Batal quoted from a speech the prime minister made in 1951 and in which he calls for "expansion."

Anyone who cares to read this speech, published in the 1951 Israel Government Yearbook, will gather from the prime minister's words that Israel's aim is not territorial expansion but industrial, agricultural and scientific expansion to meet the needs of her growing population. Israel's future lies in making her own desert bloom, not in acquiring more desert. So let's get the record straight.

Atlantan Says History Backs Negro's Stand

Atlanta—Where is our sense of history? Can we forget so soon in this country, young by Old World standards, that the majority of the white people in this country's early days were doing exactly what the Negro is doing today?

We chafed at taxation without representation and passed-out anonymous and inflammatory pamphlets. We prodded our superiors and we did not feel inferior.

By far the majority of our peoples, fair of skin, were completely uneducated.

Could we be forgetting our history because so many never cared enough about school to absorb it. it?

Forces of Hope Are Fuel For Crisis in South Africa

The Afrikaner of South Africa, if nothing else, is consistent: He doesn't like people with dark skins and he sticks to this policy through thick and thin. He will even kill over it. In South Africa, no person of colored skin comes into the home to prepare the food and care for the children.

This would contradict the policy of total submission of colored peoples to the Dutch-ancestored South African whites.

But chickens have a way of coming home to roost. We read daily of the bitter clashes taking place in South Africa and even though the percentage of those involved may be small, it is nonetheless symbolic of the larger problem.

The Bantu of South Africa has hope. This has been most eloquently explained, for us at least, by Dr. Frank Laubach, who spoke here last year.

In Dr. Laubach's words the dark-skinned peoples of the world . . . the hungry . . . the poor . . . the sick . . . the rag-dressed peoples of the world . . . have had a taste of hope. It has come to them through missionaries preaching the Gospel of Jesus Christ; it has come to them from seeing people of other countries; it has come from learning to read and to write.

Dr. Laubach warns of this development. He is realistic. He says we must meet it head-on with the things that these people really need or they will turn on us.

They are turning in South Africa.

A statement by South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw gives an indication of the thinking that prevails among the whites:

"The forces now ranged against us, not only in South Africa, but also in other parts of the world, particularly at the United Nations, would hand over South Africa to a black proletariat to destroy what has been built up during the past years.

"We have a foretaste of what would then happen when we see the ruins of churches, schools and even clinics which were erected for the benefit of the Bantu (Negro) people and burned down last week."

Here is the problem in a distilled form. The Bantu don't want to be given their clinics, churches or anything. They want their own places. They resent paternalism (who doesn't) and they have grown tired of the totality of their situation.

These are the forces at work in South Africa: On the one hand the proud, hard-headed Dutch settlers who see the control of what they developed slipping away and on the other the Bantu, sick of being treated like animals and with new-found hope of a way out.

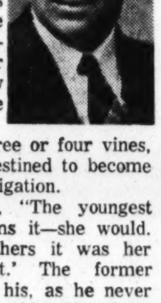
A Great Vine At Juniper

From Juniper, Ga., east of Columbus on U.S. 80, Mrs. P. W. Richardson reports a scuppernong arbor between 75 and 100 years old and bound to be "the largest in three counties." This historic arbor seems to be a rallying ground when the grapes are ripe for the Richardson kinfolks and other friends now moved off to the big cities.



The arbor, three or four vines, is apparently destined to become an object of litigation.

Says Mr. R., "The youngest grandchild claims it—she would. She reminds others it was her playhouse 'first.' The former owner says it's his, as he never sold it to us with the place. (Sorta' clinging to the vine, so to speak.)

"The two boys say it's theirs. "'Aren't they the rightful heirs by birth? After all, didn't one cut out a window in the center and put up the stepladder so he could ascend and descend at ease, eat in comfort and view the estate.'

"The younger son, not having a ladder, had to use his 'skull and heels' so he shinnied up a pecan tree at the corner of the arbor and established his 'chomping ground.' "

The lady at Juniper has given me explicit directions to the arbor "when the scuppernongs get ripe."

And she apologizes for writing in pencil, saying, "Sorry, I have to iron, cook dinner and do some painting, write the boys, plant the garden and pick up a car at 6 o'clock among other chores. They're still here (chores, she means) with the scuppernongs."

Mrs. Richardson, I accept the apology about the pencil and the invitation and am likely to be under the arbor, basket in hand, "when the scuppernongs get ripe."

Democrats Boost Test Ban Hopes

WASHINGTON—Some of the worst fears of those working for a nuclear-test ban are being removed. It was feared that the long negotiations might come to a head right in the middle of the campaign year and the treaty itself become a football in the heat of the election.

It is reassuring to find that both the American public and the Senate are strongly supporting a safeguarded test ban today. Much of the credit goes to the responsible leadership of the Democratic Party.

President Eisenhower made a wise decision, I think, when he told the Soviets recently: If you will agree to adequate inspection of all other nuclear testing, we will continue for a period the voluntary suspension of small unpoliceable underground tests while we jointly explore better methods to verify these underground tests.

Everybody in the government was not in favor of his decision and it was an alluring temptation to the Democratic presidential contenders to take advantage of such a controversy. They might find a way to use it to get the Democratic nomination or later to stir opposition to the administration as a means of helping to win the election.

They did neither.

The three avowed Democratic presidential candidates, Sens. Humphrey, Kennedy and Symington, announced their support of an inspectable test - ban agreement and publicly stated that, if elected, they too would carry out the kind of temporary moratorium on small underground tests which Eisenhower proposed.

Sen. Fulbright, chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said that he felt his committee would view the possible agreement to ban tests sympathetically and that he thought Senate ratification would be forthcoming.

Secretary of State Herter has informed Fulbright that representatives of Congress will be invited to attend any international conference at which the test - ban treaty is substantially being considered.

Only two top Democratic leaders remain to be heard from. One is Senate Majority Leader Johnson, who has conscientiously devoted himself to making divided government work and who will almost certainly give his support. The other is Stevenson, who has just returned from a long trip through Latin America and who suffered the pain and penalty of being ahead of his time — of being right too soon — when he advocated a similar nuclear test ban in 1956.

You will recall that in the campaign four years ago President Eisenhower, former President Truman, Vice President Nixon, former Gov. Dewey and others clobbered Stevenson for suggesting that the United States voluntarily suspend hydrogen bomb tests and invite the Soviets to do the same thing.

If the administration has been right for the past 18 months and is right today — as I believe it is — then Stevenson wasn't wrong in 1956.

Goodness Takes Positive Approach

Because it was against the law for one to remain on a cross on the Sabbath, they took Jesus down Friday just before sundown. One of the soldiers thrust a spear in His side and made sure He was dead. Then stepped forth Joseph of Arimathea, a wealthy man, to offer his own fine tomb for Christ.

That saved the Lord from being buried in the potter's field. This was a new tomb hewn out of solid rock, in which no man had ever lain. His friends lovingly prepared His body. They sealed the tomb with a great stone. "Low in the grave He lay, Jesus my Saviour!"

Remembering how Christ had said, "After three days I will rise again," the chief priests of the Pharisees came to Pilate requesting a guard. They did not really believe He would rise but they did believe His disciples might try to steal His body and pretend He had risen. They did set a watch of soldiers and they securely sealed the stone. However, it was not in the mind of the disciples to steal His body. They had given up hope and now were a group of disillusioned, frightened men. Suppose Jesus had remained buried. What a different world this would be!

Thinking of His tomb, I am glad Joseph made it available to Him and I thank Joseph for it. But I wish Joseph had declared himself earlier. The record is that Joseph was a disciple, "but secretly for fear of the Jews" (John 19:38). I wish Joseph had had the courage to be open with His discipleship. A beautiful flower blesses no one if it is kept in the darkness of the cellar.

The Bible refers to Joseph as "an honorable counselor, which also waited for the kingdom of God" (Mark 15:43). But kingdoms don't come by people waiting for them. Kingdoms come because of people who do something besides wait. Sometimes we measure our goodness by the sins we do not commit. But goodness is positive; it must be measured by what we do.

On this Saturday of Holy Week as we think of a buried Christ, we also think of how He is still buried in so many ways. Often He is buried within our own lives because of our failures to witness and openly live for Him. He is buried in our society by many wrongs and injustices.

For many years there stood in a darkened corner of a church a magnificent statue of Christ. One day the church caught on fire and the people moved the furnishings out into the streets. In the very center of the street someone happened to place the statue. People saw it and were inspired by it. Someone was heard to say, "What a pity to have kept Christ in the church when He might have been on the street for all men to see."

Lovett Criticisms Didn't Pinpoint Ike

WASHINGTON—Since Robert Lovett testified before Sen. Jackson's subcommittee several weeks ago, the impression has been growing that he definitely subscribed to some of the harshest criticisms of President Eisenhower and the National Security Council in their mutual relationship. Some news dispatches and analyses of Lovett's testimony and a Senate speech by Sen. Fulbright are important sources of this public understanding.

The chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee concluded that the former secretary of defense "indicated that the President (meaning Eisenhower) leads a dangerously sheltered life as chief executive." Also, that Lovett "said . . . the NSC protects Eisenhower from the debates that precede policy decisions."

The transcript of Lovett's testimony, both in open and executive session, does not establish either of these conclusions or the assumptions in the press that when Lovett referred to "the" President, he always meant Eisenhower. What the transcript does establish is this:

1. At the outset of his testimony Lovett stated a caveat. It was that his remarks would be "based for the most part on notes made" during the Truman administration and that he intended "no direct reference to any individuals of specific decisions."

2. But he did not regularly repeat this caveat. Therefore, when he answered and agreed with questions about "NSC procedures" and "the President," so phrased they could have been taken to apply to the Eisenhower tenure, it was possible to assume that the witness replied in kind.

3. But close inspection of the transcript shows that the former secretary of defense conceived he was discussing "a" president and the NSC as an institution and he has since said as much. Apparently he relied on his opening caveat to prevent hypothetical exchanges in executive session from being interpreted as applying specifically to Eisenhower and the current procedures of the NSC.

Probably it was because the witness did not steadily invoke his caveat, like takers of the Fifth Amendment before racket inquiries, that many concluded Lovett had conceded the points of criticism involved as currently applicable. But if he fears that President Eisenhower's temperament, his military preference for having issues intensely screened for him and his awesome renown inevitably have diluted the essential concept and function of the NSC in this administration, Lovett neither "said" nor "indicated" this. And the NSC's statistical record — of the President in the chair at 90 per cent of the NSC meetings, sharp debates in his presence over fundamental differences in policy papers — refute many assumptions on which major criticisms are founded.

Paris Is Sealed Off In Kidnaper Hunt

said "It was a personal agreement and I am the only one to know what happened.

"No police were in the way. I asked the police to stay out—it was the only way for me.

"In my opinion, of course, it got good results."

In two letters received from the kidnapers, one at the time of the abduction and the other by mail Thursday morning, a method of contact was fixed.

A password was given.

Late Thursday morning, the kidnapers were reported to have telephoned Peugeot and set a meeting place on a street near the Arch of Triumph.

When Peugeot went to the meeting, in accordance with instructions, he carried a briefcase containing the money.

After the ransom had been handed over, the contact man was reported to have said: "The child will be given back to you tonight. You will receive a phone call between 11 p.m. and midnight. It will indicate to you the spot where the child can be found."

The kidnapers kept their word—but took one final precaution. They did not release the child at the exact spot that had been indicated.

Eric was let out of the kidnapers' car not far from his parent's apartment. Some 56 hours earlier a dark-haired man had grabbed him at the country club.

A passerby found the crying child and took him to a bar, where police were called.

While Eric played happily in the Peugeot apartment with the new toys his family and well wishers had given him, authorities pushed a massive hunt for at least two men who are known to have been involved.

At the request of the Peugeot family, they had not interfered with the father's efforts to negotiate Eric's return.

"We first of all considered the human side of this affair before the police said," said Albert Gillet, chief of the first mobile police brigade. "Now we are doing everything we can to find as soon as possible the kidnapers of little Eric. The investigation could be long."

Eric and his parents were questioned this afternoon by police inspectors in the hope they could furnish further clues.

The boy has said that he was held in a ground floor apartment not far from the club where he was kidnaped.

"They had a television set," he said. "They didn't hurt me."

They voted 337-125 for open public schools. Candler said the vote was one of the heaviest responses to any poll during his presidency.

In addition, Candler added several observations which he said represented the views of a majority of the ABA's executive committee.

"It is now clear," he wrote Sibley, "that unless some plan involving the feasibility of limited integration is accepted in accordance with orders of the federal courts, all public schools of the state will be closed.

"The problem extends to elementary schools, high schools and the colleges and universities of our university system. It extends also to the public training of teachers for replacement in public and private schools throughout the state."

The letter notes that the Georgia constitution states that the "supreme law" of Georgia shall be "the constitution of the United States, the laws of the U.S. in pursuance thereof and all treaties made under the authority of the United States."

The letter further stated that "it is likewise clear that the current decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court construing the federal constitution are controlling on this issue."

"They are, as they must necessarily be in our federal system, controlling on both state and federal courts and state and federal officials . . . "

The ABA did not take a stand on the issue at the recent Sibley Committee hearings in Atlanta.

Members of the ABA's executive committee include Newell Edenfield, president of the Georgia Bar Assn.; Candler, T. Charles Allen, Clifford Oxford, Robert R. Richardson, A. Paul Cadenhead, Hamilton Douglas Jr., Robert L. Foreman Jr., David H. Gambrell, Samuel F. Lowe Jr. and Randolph W. Thrower.

83 Sitdowners Accused Of Violating 3 Laws

actually participated in that demonstration.

The new accusation resulted in warrants being issued for seven persons who were not among the 76 demonstrators originally arrested. Five of these were signers of the human rights declaration which was carried as an advertisement in Atlanta newspapers.

They are:

James Felder, Marion D. Bennett, Don Clarke, Mary Ann Smith and Roslyn Pope.

Two others who participated in the demonstrations, but were not arrested then, were listed as Ted Mack and Don Parham.

The accusation charges that the 83 conspired to "divide themselves into groups and to cause each group thereof to repair in mass (sic) to nine or more separately and independently owned, operated and managed cafeterias."

The demonstrators knew that the owners limited their services "to customers of their own choice to the exclusion of the defendants and other members of said group," the accusation says.

It alleges they conspired to take over the cafeterias by their numbers and force the managers to serve them, and to refuse to leave the premises unless served or until they were removed by law officers.

Meanwhile, Fulton Juvenile Judge W. W. Woolfolk was served with an appeal of his ruling in the case of a juvenile demonstrator from Morehouse College, whom the judge ordered to return to his Birmingham, Ala., home.

resigned in 1958 to re-enter private business, gave Georgia GOP leaders a pep talk in which he:

1. Predicted great things for the party in Georgia and the South;

2. Hailed the Eisenhower administration's "peace and prosperity" policies;

3. Described Vice President Nixon as "My great friend, your great friend and our next candidate for president"; and

4. Urged an all-out effort to keep a Republican in the White House after the November election.

Meanwhile, the convention's platform was drafting a platform to present to the approximately 600 delegates Saturday. Party Chairman W. B. Shartzer of Atlanta said it would be the first platform ever adopted by the Georgia Republican Party and is designed to be one which "we as Republicans can stand on and on which Republican candidates can run for office."

The committee reportedly was working on a highly controversial plank calling for continued public education in Georgia even if it means public school integration.

Originally, the resolutions committee had been considering a draft resolution submitted by the Fifth District delegation calling for continuation of the public school system at all costs. However, resolutions committee chairman Bob MacFarland of Decatur said the matter had been turned over to the platform committee.

Platform Committee Chairman William J. Schloth of Columbus would not discuss his committee's secret session work on the resolution with reporters.

He did say, however, that "there are two schools of thought" on whether to include the plank in the state platform.

The expected floor fight over the question reportedly has already begun in the committee.

One party spokesman said the plank is sure to be included in the committee's report and that there will be a floor fight.

The convention Friday afternoon elected James Dorsey, Atlanta attorney and former U.S. District Attorney here, as its temporary chairman. P. D. Davis of Atlanta was named temporary secretary.

Secretary of the Interior Seaton is scheduled to speak at a $25-a-plate baquet Saturday night.

Molotov Back From Mongolia, Enters Hospital

MOSCOW (UPI) — Wayacheslav Molotov, ousted in disgrace as Soviet Foreign Minister and shunted to the ambassadorship of Outer Mongolia, Friday was reported under treatment in Moscow's Batkin Hospital for a kidney ailment.

Molotov, born in 1890, missed a Kremlin reception Friday in honor of visiting Mongolian Premier Sham Sarangin Sambu. He was believed to have accompanied the Mongolian leader to Moscow from Ulan Bator and then entered the hospital.

It was reported his illness would be of long duration.

stage ignited a few minutes later, then streaked south to begin whirling around the earth's poles.

The capsule of Discoverer XI contains only instruments. Later capsules are to carry monkeys.

Success in recovering the capsule would mean a major first for the United States' space efforts. Nose cones and capsules containing animals have been rocketed into space and recovered, but no has been recovered from orbit.

Space scientists say that learning how to get an object back from orbit is vital to Project Mercury, the man-in-space plan.

Col. Harry Evans, deputy director of space programs for the Air Force, said the satellite should stay aloft about 10 days. Other Discoverers have had a longer life, but this, he said, was because the orbit was larger than planned.

Col. Evans said preliminary evidence indicated the satellite was stable in flight and should be able to eject the capsule properly Saturday.

Evans said, "We will have to catch at least one capsule before we send any animals again into orbit."

Four mice went aloft in Discoverer IV last year, but the satellite failed to orbit.

These promotions will accompany transfers to new assignments for these officers:

'The Way of the Cross' Is Easter Inspiration

By THE TV SCOUT

SATURDAY'S BEST BET—An appropriate subject on this Holy Saturday is World Wide '60's ambitious documentary, "The Way of the Cross."

This was filmed in Jerusalem and describes the events leading to the crucifixion of Jesus. It does this with shots which, as nearly as possible, show the Jerusalem of 2,000 years ago.

The last portion uses the "subjective camera" technique, with the camera as Jesus' eyes as He walks the Via Dolorosa to Calvary, stopping at the various stations of the Cross as He did. It ends with the Resurrection, as the camera symbolically shows the parched earth blossoming with flowers and the music swells with "The Messiah."

Alexander Scourby is the narrator, aided by Norman Rose, reading the Bible selections, and three other actors. 9:30-10:30 (Ch. 2).

1:30 (Ch. 2); 1:45 (Ch. 5); 3:55 (Ch. 11)—Baseball is back and from now on until the chrysanthemums wither there will be games on every weekend, weather and schedules permitting. NBC's Major League Baseball series opens with the Cincinnati Reds meeting the Pittsburgh Pirates in Pittsburg. CBS' Game of the Week has the Milwaukee Braves and Philadelphia Phillies playing in Philadelphia. And ABC's Big League Baseball starts with the Chicago Cubs and San Francisco Giants playing in San Francisco. Batter up!

ROM. 16:16

The RESTORATION PLEA

The restoration plea is a plea for a complete return to the Christianity taught in the New Testament. The gradual falling away from the original teaching and practice of the church of Christ established on Pentecost resulted in Catholicism, as had been foretold by the Apostle Paul (II Thes. 2:3-9; I Timothy 4:1-3). The unsuccessful effort to reform the Catholic church by those within merely resulted in the formation of various other religious organizations or denominations. These in turn produced their own distinctive creeds, thus resulting in the divided state of the religious world.

In the early 19th century, disciples in various parts of the world despaired of the hopelessly divided conditions resulting from the reformation effort, and came forth with the plea of COMPLETE RESTORATION of Christianity as taught by the apostles, and practiced by the church in the first century, under the divine guidance of the Holy Spirit.

These leaders plead for the unity of the Lord's people through the return to the practice and principles of the New Testament. Since creeds of men had proved so divisive, they advocated the elimination of all human creeds and the restoration of the word of God alone as a complete and adequate rule of faith and practice. Unity in the religious world was not to be achieved by compromise around the conference table, but through obedience to the word of God.

The teaching, organization and worship of the church of Christ was not to be determined by tradition or the legislation of men in synods and councils, but by the "apostles' doctrine" which is found in the New Testament. Conduct in life was not to be measured by the teaching and example of medieval mystics and aesthetics, but the teaching of Jesus Christ.

The reformers of the 16th century had said that the individual person had a right to study the scriptures for himself. But those who sought to restore New Testament Christianity said that the individual not only had the right, but the God given responsibility to study the scriptures and follow them to the exclusion of all other religious guides.

The word of God is the seed of the kingdom, (Luke 8:11). When it is sown in the hearts of people it will produce the same fruit today that it did in the first century. When the word of God, and it alone, is preached, the result will be Christianity as taught by the Holy Spirit through the apostles of Christ as written in the New Testament.

We in the church today continue to make the same plea for the Bible as the only authority in Christianity. There is no other possible way to bring about unity or a restoration of the teachings of Christ.

Paschal Candles to Glow For Return of Saviour

By BETSY FANCHER

One of the most ancient and profoundly symbolic rites of Holy Week will be performed today in Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches throughout the state.

The Lighting of the Paschal candle on Easter even symbolizes the light of Christ returning to the world.

Five nails are placed in the Candle, in memory of the wounds of Christ. Then the candle is lit, in commemoration of Christ's promise to his disciples that he would not leave them comfortless, but would always be with them. The candle, a testimony to Christ's victory over death, will be lit for every service until Ascension Day, 40 days after Easter.

The Lighting of the Paschal Candle is accompanied by a mass baptismal service of 7th century origin.

New Church for the Nazarenes

Easter will mark the first services in the newly built First Church of the Nazarene at 735 Fayetteville Rd., SE.

The congregation, which was formed some 30 years ago, has long occupied a temporary building on Moreland avenue.

A sanctuary which seats 500 and a two-story educational building comprise the new church plant, located on a six-acre tract of land.

Future plans are for a chapel, an educational wing and a fellowship hall, says the pastor, the Rev. Wendell Wellman.

Methodist Women to Meet

Some 250 delegates representing 33,000 Methodist women will gather at College Park First Methodist Church Tuesday for the 20th annual meeting of the North Georgia Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service.

Speakers for the three-day session include Dr. Robert E. Goodrich Jr., First Methodist Church, Dallas, Tex.; Dr. Laton Holmgren, executive secretary, Overseas Division of the American Bible Society, and Mrs. Ralph A. Ward, missionary to Taiwan.

Dr. Laubach To Speak

A Congregational missionary, credited with teaching illiterates to read at the rate of ten million a year, will speak at the Communications Council to be sponsored by the Protestant Radio and Television Center April 21.

Dr. Frank Laubach, missionary at large for illiterates and founder of the "Each One Teach One" program will also speak on "American Army of Compassion" Wednesday at Emory University.

With his wife, a nurse and teacher, Dr. Laubach began his work with the Moros of the Philippine Islands in 1929. Since then he has developed teaching primers to enable adults to learn to read in 274 languages. In some cases, he has provided alphabets for peoples who had no written language.

Dogwoods Wear Their Easter Best

The peak of the dogwood blooming season is expected to arrive Easter morning.

The full bloom usually lasts about 10 days.

Because of the warm weather, the dogwood trees will be in "good color" Sunday, according to Charles J. Hudson Jr., horticultural expert whose column appears in the Dixie Living section of The Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

The severe March cold delayed the beginning of the blooming season from three to four days throughout the city.

The peak usually begins April 15.

But the dogwood blooms won't be as snowy white as in former years. Dogwood blight, a virus type disease, has been reported increasing throughout the city. The blight causes brown spots on the petals and on the leaves.

First noted in Savannah in 1930, the blight moved up the Atlantic seaboard and has threatened Atlanta's vaunted position as the nation's "Dogwood City" for about four years.

"Nobody knows for certain what causes the blight," Hudson said. "Neither is it known how the blight is transmitted."

He suggests the best way to combat dogwood blight is with proper fungicide sprays. "It takes neighborhood cooperation to wipe it out," he said.

Good Friday Tableau

The hours after the crucifixion are reenacted by members of the Senior High and Westminster Fellowships of Oakhurst Presbyterian Church. Friday night, Jimmy Hall and David Mobley acted as guards in the Easter scene on the lawn of the church. Depicting the mourners at the tomb of Christ are Carolyn Krieger, Mary Witherspoon and Gayle Coy (kneeling), and Tom Harrell, Don Campbell and Nelia Morgan. The tomb will be closed and guarded Saturday. Sunday the open tomb and the angel of the Lord will be shown. (Staff Photo—Charles Vaughn)

Show Child You Trust In the Lord

QUESTION: I believe I have put my trust in the Lord, but my children have little interest in church and religion. Have I failed somewhere?—M. T.

ANSWER: Saying: "I trust the Lord" and doing it are two different things. We may tell our children we have faith in God, but do they find us complaining about our lot in life? Do our actions belie our words?

Children have an uncanny "sixth sense" which enables them to see beyond what we say and to discern what we really are. They usually respond to genuine faith, but are usually repelled by anything that smacks of insincerity. A recent survey has revealed that few children ever forsake the faith of their parents, if one or the other of their parents is genuinely sincere.

First, I would check my own depth of faith and see if I am transferring my beliefs into Christian action and attitudes. If all is well there, then I would put this complete "trust in God" into concrete action, by having faith that my children will some day follow the Lord. There is usually a time lag between faith and sight. The Bible suggests this when it says: "Bring up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Choir of Boys Greeting Easter At St. Simons

The Atlanta Boy Choir, sponsored by the Peachtree Christian Church, will make its first tour of the season Sunday with an appearance at the St. Simons Easter sunrise worship.

The choir is directed by Fletcher Wolfe and William B. Huckaby is accompanist.

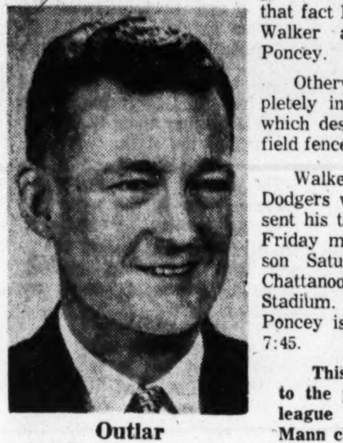
The Fiery Crackers

Atlanta's Crackers, who kindled less than a minimum of excitement last summer, are off to a blazing start. The park caught fire the day before Manager Rube Walker transplanted his young men from the O'Malley-Hilton at Vero Beach to Poncey.

Mr. Jerry Waring, the new Cracker general manager, has determined that it wasn't a spark from last year's outfit which ignited the blaze. Bob Montag, who managed the club, vouched for that fact Friday morning as he greeted Walker and the new Crackers at Poncey.



Outlar

Otherwise, Mr. Waring is completely in the dark about the bonfire which destroyed a section of the right-field fence.

Walker, hoping that his future Dodgers will knock down some fences, sent his troops through their final drill Friday morning. They'll open the season Saturday afternoon against the Chattanooga Independents in Engel Stadium. The cork-popping party at Poncey is scheduled Tuesday night at 7:45.

This marks Atlanta's first trip to the post under complete major league sponsorship. When Earl Mann closed the shop last fall, Los Angeles borrowed the key and agreed to unlock it.

It's impossible to render a forecast on the Southern Association race, for a manager never knows what to expect from the opposition. However, Walker is pleased with the farm hands he drew from the vast assembly line at Vero Beach.

—The New Pilot Likes His Crew

"I know everyone always tends to be optimistic in the spring," the husky Cracker boss said Friday as he stood beside the batting cage at Poncey, "but I like this club. We've got a bunch of kids who can run and throw, and I think our young pitchers will come through."

In fact, Walker was happy to escape from Vero Beach with his cast intact. The three Dodger Triple-A pilots were eyeing two or three of the infant Crackers.

Outfielder Jim Williams, a veteran of the Dodger chain who visited Poncey as a Mobile Bear, Walker and Coach Ed Stevens, who did a tour here at first base last year, are perhaps the only Crackers customers will recognize opening night. And the younger fans won't recognize Walker, for he made his last official appearance at Poncey as a Nashville Vol way back yonder in 1947.

Williams is the presiding elder of the Crackers, and third baseman John Werhas, a bonus boy from Southern Cal, is the most inexperienced. Werhas is attempting to make the long leap from a college campus to Double-A.

Walker, who never won any foot races as a player, expects his men to win quite a few this season. "We'll keep moving," he said. "We'll hit and run and play a running game."

Walker has nominated right-hander Tommy Wells to hurl against the Lookouts in the curtain-raiser. Wells cashed 14 victory chips and lost seven at Reno in the Class C California League.

Right-hander Ken Rowe, a 15-10 performer for last place Macon last year, will serve 'em up when the Crackers meet Shreveport here Tuesday night.

—Donaldson Launches 27th Season

Most of the Cracker hurlers weren't old enough to attend kindergarden when Walker launched his career 17 years ago, but the pilot is high on his juvenile staff.

Goldie Holt, the veteran Dodger scout and coach who played in every league except the Epworth, is also enthusiastic about the youthful pitching corps. Holt will take in the first three Cracker series, checking on the pitchers in particular and the club in general.

Holt points out that he became an authority on pitching long ago and cites an example in a Coast League game in Los Angeles as proof. "I hit into a triple play my first time up," he said, "and hit into a double play next time at bat. Two trips to the plate, five outs."

Jasper Donaldson reminded Holt that he had seen him play with Knoxville in Atlanta in 1934 and produced an old score card as proof. Holt checked the card and discovered that he had gone oh-for-four. "Looks like you could have found one where I at least got a hit," he said. Holt then explained that he frequently lapsed into slumps—one that lasted 25 years.

Donaldson, launching his 27th year at Poncey, Park Superintendent Beans Hadley and Concession Manager Raul O'Barr are the holdovers from Earl Mann's regime. Otherwise, it's a brand-new deal at the ball yard.

The players, uniforms, manager and management have changed since last season. Only the name of the club is the same. At no risk of venturing out on a limb, let us say that the 1960 model Crackers will be improved.

Mauch Will Wait And See on Phils

'Want To Be the Best,' New Manager Exclaims

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gene Mauch, new manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, said Friday—his first on the job—"the only kind of baseball I like is the winning kind, and that's what I expect my team to do."

GENE MAUCH
Salute to Philadelphia

Sun-tanned, smiling "and really enthused and happy," the 34-year-old Mauch scoffed at pre-season polls that placed the Phillies in the National League cellar.

"I don't believe it," he said after arriving from Miami by plane. "I think we will do much better. In fact, I know it."

As noisy jets flashed by, Mauch obliged photographers by putting on a red Phillies cap handed him by John Quinn, the club's beaming general manager who hand-picked him for the job to replace Eddie Sawyer.

Sawyer quit Thursday, with the 1960 season just a day old. His reason: "I just didn't want to manage anymore."

Mauch, hired for two years, indicated he'll play the game by eye and ear as he settles into Sawyer's shoes.

"Everybody starts from scratch," he said. "Me, too. I want to see what the boys can do, not what someone tells me they can't.

"You can't tell, really, how long it will take to decide if changes must be made, if someone stays or someone goes.

"I hope, honestly, that no changes will be necessary—that we'll win and keep on winning."

Mauch said he wanted to be the best manager in the major leagues.

Interjected Quinn: "There's nothing wrong with that. That's what we want him to be."

The Phillies had a day off Friday, and Mauch spent the remainder of it resting and talking baseball business with Quinn. He'll take over the club for Saturday's game here with Milwaukee.

Did he plan to make coaching changes?

"I've given the coaching situation a lot of thought," he admitted, "but I haven't talked this over yet with Quinn.

"Coaches are important, but the final decisions are the manager's."

Mauch said over the past few years, while managing the Minneapolis Millers in the American Assn. and previously as a major league infielder, he had seen most of the Phillies ballplayers in action.

"These guys can play or they wouldn't be up here," he asserted.

"Good ball players don't need much handling. You don't get to the big leagues accidentally. You have to be good somewhere. Class shows itself."

His first managerial job was at Atlanta in 1953 "but it was too early for me. I wasn't ready yet, though I learned a lot there."

Raiders Ink Lancaster

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Five more players were signed Friday by the Oakland Raiders from the frozen list of Houston, Los Angeles, Denver and Dallas of the American Football League.

The five are Donnis Churchwell, 255-pound linebacker from Mississippi; Lary Lancaster, 235, Georgia tackle; Dean Philpott, 205, Fresno State halfback; Wayne Hawkins, 235, College of the Pacific guard, and Bob Dougherty, 235, linebacker from Kentucky.

DIZ RETURNS TO TV --- AND SO DOES SNEAD

Ole Dizzy Dean's baseball "podnuhs" in Atlanta can rest easy. The fellow from Arkansas will be on WAGA-TV after all. In fact, his debut Saturday will coincide with that of ex-Cracker manager Gene Mauch, who makes his debut in the weekend series against Milwaukee that Diz'll be calling.

And the first installment in "Operation Baseball Saturation" comes off Saturday with three National League games on TV and the Crackers' opener at Chattanooga on WQXI.

Pittsburgh and Cincinnati will duel Saturday and Sunday on WSB-TV, Ch. 2, with a 1:15 p.m. time Saturday. Dizzy Dean's visit at Philadelphia with his new sidekick, ex-Dodger infielder Peewee Reese, will go on WAGA-TV at the same time. And the Chicago Cubs' game at San Francisco will be on a WLW-A TV feature at 4 p.m. Hank Morgan takes the mike direct to Chattanooga for the Crackers-Lookouts opener at 2 p.m. Saturday.

That controversial Sam Snead-Mason Rudolph "Championship Golf" match will be reTVed by WSB-TV Sunday at 4:30 p.m. You'll recall that Snead admitted he threw the match because he had 15 clubs, one over the limit.

Play Ball Crackers! Rings Out for 1960

Atlanta Opens In Chattanooga

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Atlanta's Crackers and Chattanooga's Lookouts, Southern Assn. baseball pillars that almost collapsed for lack of support, begin new seasons and eras simultaneously Saturday on what they hope is firm ground.

The Crackers, pennant-winningest team in the minors but so deep in the cellar last year that they couldn't see seventh place on a clear day, are Los Angeles Dodger-owned and supplied after a decade of flying the banner of the Boston and Milwaukee Braves.

The Lookouts, winners of the league's Class B opening day attendance trophy in 28 of 30 seasons under Washington Senator sponsorship, go to the post home-owned for the 1960 wars—but with a Philadelphia Phils working agreement.

Neither Chattanooga nor Atlanta fans know just what to expect of their "new look" teams as they open fire on each other in the season lid-lifter at 2 o'clock Saturday in Engel Stadium.

But Chattanooga people, happy to be unbridled of the Washington yoke they associated with mediocrity, join with Atlanta faithful in believing that any change is bound to be for the better — although the Crackers did win four flags while affiliated with the Braves.

Stark contrast in personnel will be in evidence as the clubs face the future and each other at Engel. Forrest (Spook) Jacobs, new manager of the Lookouts, will field a team stocked primarily with veterans, including himself at second base.

Rube Walker, debuting as Cracker pilot, will steer his course with a gang of eager, fuzzy-faced youngsters who Fresco Thompson, Dodger vice-president, says will make Atlanta a pennant contender.

Contrast is noticeably apparent in selection of opening pitchers. Tommy Wells, a 21-year-old right-hander with one-year of pro experience in a Class C League, will fire for Atlanta. Bob Greenwood, much-traveled 31-year-old who posted an 11-13 record for Asheville in the Sally League last year, goes for the Lookouts.

At least six of Atlanta's nine starters, including Wells, are regarded by the Dodgers as big leaguers of tomorrow. First baseman Tim Harkness, second baseman Larry Burright, right fielder Al Fantuzzi, catcher Doug Camilli and third baseman John Werhas—a refugee from a University of

Gene Dahlbendender Fires 67 In Dogwood Tuneup Round

Five-time champion Gene Dahlbender Jr. fired a five-under-par 67 at Druid Hills Friday in a sizzling tuneup for next week's Dogwood invitational.

Dahlbender's 32-35 was the hottest round recorded so far in practice for the 16th edition of the amateur tournament.

Atlanta's Golfer of the Year in 1959, Dahlbender won the second Dogwood held in 1946 and he's been a prominent figure in the tournament ever since. His other four triumphs came in 1947, 1956, 1957 and 1958.

Jack Penrose of Miami, Fla., broke the Dahlbender string by capturing top honors last season.

Dahlbender, Penrose and other leading entrants expected to make the championship flight will shoot their qualifying rounds next Tuesday. The championship proper starts on Wednesday and runs through Saturday, with 18 holes of medal play each day.

Tournament chairman Joe Summers said Friday a total of 176 entries have been received so far. He predicts a total field of about 340 or 350.

Some club members shot their qualifying rounds Friday, and other Druid Hills members will follow suit Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Out-of-town entrants who do not expect to make the championship flight will qualify Sunday and Monday.

Best qualifying score turned in Friday was an 80 by Druid Hills Club member Robert G. Oliver.

Summers reported the addition of some top-notch stars to the field joining the list are Florida champion Truman Cornell, Georgia Tech star Jimmy Cleveland and Griffin's Jerry Grissom, formerly of the University of Georgia.

CHUCK DRESSEN
Strong Hand at Tiller

NATIONAL IN MOTION

Wheels Are Whirling . . . and Dressen's in the Middle

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The National League took a day off Good Friday after three days of action that produced 341,809 paid admissions, a new manager in Philadelphia and six men hitting .500 or better.

If there was one development that stood out above all others in the first few days it was recognition that Chuck Dressen had taken a firm hold in Milwaukee.

The appearance of Lew Burdette in the bullpen and the quick hook for Warren Spahn on opening day was a solid hint. As soon as Chuck hit Philadelphia for a weekend series, he announced that Spahn, too, would be in the bullpen if needed against the Phils. Juan Pizarro was out there Thursday and lost, 5-4.

Noting that Red Schoendienst had enough to do to supervise his own comeback after losing a year because of tuberculosis, Dressen appointed Eddie Mathews the "take charge guy" of the infield.

When Philadelphia started a left-handed pitcher, Dressen revealed he planned to platoon center and left. He brought in Mel Roach to replace Al Spangler in left and sent Felix Mantilla to center instead of Bill Bruton. Of course, the left field situation may be changed when Wes Covington is ready for full-time duty.

Philadelphia had its largest opening crowd in two years, 32,038, to see acting manager Andy Cohen make the right moves and beat Dressen. Frantic shifting of pitchers and pinch hitters finally brought up Joe Koppe. His single off Johnny Logan's glove won the game in the 10th inning.

Although the hitting of Bobby DelGreco and the relief pitching of Don Cardwell were encouraging to Phil fans, the early bombing of Curt Simmons was a disappointment. Gene Mauch takes over as boss this weekend.

Pittsburgh, regarded as a singles-hitting club without much power, led the league with a .333 club batting average, mostly on the strength of the 13-0 romp over Cincinnati Thursday afternoon. Roberto Clemente, the Pirates' right-fielder, is way out there with a .714 average and six runs batted in for two games. Dick Groat is hitting .625.

Cal McLish, a 19-game winner at Cleveland last year, failed in his first outing for Cincinnati, lasting less than three innings. However, the Reds are happy with Billy Martin's .500 average and the .420 hitting of rookie Tony Gonzalez, the new right fielder.

San Francisco's new park brought a flurry of conflicting reports. First, the wind was so tricky it was believed that nobody would hit a left field homer. Then Thursday night Ernie Banks hit a grand slammer into the cross wind and over the fence. Willie Mays, incidentally, is rolling along at a .500 clip.

The Chicago Cubs hoped for new power from Frank Thomas and they got a sample. After going hitless in seven trips, Thomas hit a three-run homer off Los Angeles' Larry Sherry Wednesday night and came through with the winning double off the Giants' Billy O'Dell Thursday night.

Los Angeles won a couple of one-run games and was shut out by the Cubs Glen Hobbie. After the shutout, manager Walter Alston benched center fielder Don Demeter and called on rookie Tom Davis in a search for more punch. Sherry lost his first as a starter but gets another try Sunday against St. Louis.

St. Louis was the only non-winner, dropping three straight, 3-1, 6-1 and 3-2. The pitching wasn't bad, except for Vinegar Bend Mizell who was knocked out in the third inning by the Giants, and the wild pitch by relief pitcher Bob Duliba that lost Thursday night's game to the Dodgers. Nobody has been hitting Daryl Spencer, the ex-Giant, is 0 for 11 and the club average is a sad .163.

Bitsy Grant's Running To Prevent a Placement

Coach Powless Tops Froehling, 10-8, 6-2

Bartzen, MacKay, McKinley Advance to Semis Here

By MICKEY LOGUE

Perhaps operating on the theory "if you can't join 'em, beat 'em," Florida State Coach John Powless eliminated prize high school prospect Frank Froehling from the Atlanta Invitational tennis tournament Friday afternoon.

Powless fought off one set point before outlasting the Coral Gables 17-year-old, 10-8, 6-2, in the most fiercely contested quarter-final singles match at Bitsy Grant Center.

"I don't know where Frank's going to college," Powless said later, "but I've been trying to get him to come to FSU. He's a tough customer."

Froehling earlier had expressed interest in attending Georgia Tech and dined with Tech supporters Friday evening.

Top-seeded Tut Bartzen, second-ranked MacKay and darkhorse Chuck McKinley entered the semis with no strain or pain. Bartzen blitzed Harry Hoffman Jr., 6-1, 6-2; MacKay powered past Bitsy Grant, 6-1, 6-3, and McKinley trounced Bob Nichols, 6-1, 6-3.

SATURDAY'S PAIRINGS

Singles: 1 p.m.—MacKay vs. Powless. 2:30—Bartzen vs. McKinley. Doubles: Immediately after singles—Bartzen-Powless vs. Froehling-McKinley, MacKay-Grant vs. Willett-McCall.

MacKay meets Powless at 1 p.m. Saturday, and defending champion Bartzen opposes McKinley at 2:30. Semifinal and final singles matches will be three-of-five sets.

The competitive tempo picked up in quarter-final doubles, two matches going three sets.

First-seeded MacKay-Grant survived a rally by Sonny Mullis and Nichols, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; veterans Frank Willett and Howard McCall struggled uphill and defeated Hoffman and his Presbyterian College teammate Tony Wilson, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4; second-seeded Bartzen-Powless polished off Larry Shippey-John Foster, 6-2, 6-3, and Froehling-McKinley licked Vince Connerat-Harvey Jackson, 7-5, 6-4.

The 6-5 Powless, a former Murray State basketball star, pulled ahead 5-3 in the first set, dissipated a set point and faced a 5-6, set point disadvantage before winning 10-8.

Froehling evened the second set 2-2 and the next game—the day's longest—went 20 points. Powless finally held his service and Froehling was finisted. The gangling teen-ager misfired repeatedly with his powerful forehand, scoring only three points the last three games.

Powless said this victory was similar to two others he achieved against Froehling. He was able to maintain enough pressure to break down the resistance.

"Getting MacKay's service back is my big problem Saturday," he said.

Cincinnatian MacKay, ranked No. 2 among U.S. amateurs to Texan Bartzen, revealed a rejuvenated ground game in whipping Grant. This will be his first collision with Powless.

McKinley, 19-year-old from St. Louis, continued to impress with a sharp serve and all-round tennis tools.

"I'm looking forward to playing Tut," he said, "but I can't make as many mistakes and have a chance. Bartzen beat me, 11-9, 9-7, in our last match at Tulsa last year."

Four-Ply Home Run Barrage Catches Tech in Breeze, 11-3

Gators Romp In Big One

By JACK WILLIAMS

Florida smashed four home runs in an awesome display of power, and Georgia Tech tossed away lazy ground balls like hot charcoal, as the Gators breezed past the Jackets, 11-3, at Rose Bowl Field Friday.

What had been boomed as the crucial game in the Eastern Division of the Southeastern Conference race thus turned out to be a runaway.

Don Fleming, Florida's football captain in 1958, Bill Saba, Paul Booher and Perry McGriff all cracked long drives over the left field screen.

And when these strong men of the diamond weren't at work, the Tech infielders were, sabotaging the pitching efforts of lefty Joe Chambers.

Coach Dave Fuller's Gators thus tightened their hold on first place in the Eastern race with a 6-1 record. The Jackets, who could have gained a tie with a win, fell to a 4-3 record.

The two teams go at it again Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. Tech Coach Joe Pittard will send Eddie Chambless to the mound in an effort to gain revenge. Florida will counter with righthander Don McCleary.

Two straight three-base throwing errors by Tech third baseman John Gher got the Gators off to a two-run lead in the first inning Friday.

And that's the way it stood until the sixth with Chambers and Florida righthander Dennis Aust engaging in what promised to be an exciting duel in the sun.

Then, quicker than you can say "It's out of the park," the Gators made it a romp.

Fleming, who had watched what appeared to be a home run sail foul in the third, hit his target this time. He parked one over the left field screen, 350 feet away from home plate. Then, after Saba had singled, catcher Booher followed suit with a 330-foot blast over the same screen.

That made it 5-0, and Chambers was through for the day. Gerry Lindsey and Curt Beavers finished up for the Jackets, Lindsey giving up the other six runs.

Tech narrowed the gap to 5-1 on a single by George Inman and a double by Bud Abate in the bottom half of the sixth.

The Gators added three insurance runs in the ninth on towering homers by McGriff, an All-America star last year; and Saba. Both were punched over the left field screen at the 330 mark.

Florida wound up using three pitchers. Aust left in the sixth, and Vinnie Pent and Ray Oestricher finished up. Only Oestricher ran into trouble. The Jackets banged away at him in the ninth to score two runs on a double by pinchhitter Chambless and singles by Gher, Mike Thomas and Roger Kaiser.

Barons, Bears Again Liked In Southern's Pennant Run

Mrozinski Faces Mobile

By VERNON BUTLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Birmingham and Mobile, involved last year in a playoff for the Southern Assn. pennant, wear co-favorite tags in the 1960 race which gets underway Saturday.

The two play each other at Birmingham in a night game, and Little Rock is at Shreveport in the other after-dark opener. Atlanta is at Chattanooga and Memphis at Nashville for day inaugurals.

Confident business office people predict an aggregate turnout of 28,500 fans for the four games. It would be an increase of almost 9,000 over the 1959 campaign which began dismally at the gate and stayed that way all season.

The Class AA league, staggering from financial reverses, must have a better year than in 1959 or go out of business. Hal Totten, successor to Charlie Hurth as league president, agrees with a younger, more aggressive front office crowd that the South hit bottom a year ago and will begin a new era of prosperity.

A second set of lidlifters Tuesday schedules Chattanooga at Memphis, Birmingham at Little Rock, Shreveport at Atlanta and Nashville at Mobile.

Little Rock, out of the league last year, has replaced New Orleans. The Travelers assembled a club in a hurry and obtained ex-Birmingham star Fred Hatfield as manager. They'll help Shreveport raise the curtain before an expected turnout of 5,000. Either Don Bradey (19-14 last year at New Orleans) or Charles Ready (5-8) will start for the Travs against Jerry Davis, Shreveport left-hander.

Largest turnout is expected at Chattanooga, where the Chattanooga Times says 13,000 will watch the Lookouts make their debut under Manager Forrest (Spook) Jacobs against the Atlanta Crackers.

Probable starter for Birmingham, where the Barons look for a 3,500 crowd, is lefty Ron Mrozinski, who etched a superb 1.86 earned-run average in 1959 at Birmingham while winning 12 of 20 decisions.

At Nashville, where the crowd is expected to be about 7,000, the Vols will start veteran righthander Tom Gibson (11-6) against Memphis veteran Bob Milliken (10-3).

KENNEL CLUB'S SHOW SET HERE SATURDAY

A record spring entry of 639 dogs will compete Saturday in the Atlanta Kennel Club's 59th All-Breed Dog Show at Lakewood Amusement Park, it is announced by Roy L. Ayers, club president.

Sixty-two different breeds will be put through their show-style paces, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing until late in the day when the "best of show" will be selected by Louis J. Murr, judge from Spring Valley, N.Y. Four other judges from throughout the country will make selections during the elimination competition until the top winner is selected from among the sporting, hound, working, terrier, toy and non-sporting dog groups.

Also included on the program is the 15th obedience trial of the Atlanta Obedience Club, which will offer top prizes to some of the finest dogs in North America.

The show will also present International Champion Chik T'sun of Caversham, the pekingese owned by Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Venable of Atlanta. Champion Chik will be making his first Atlanta appearance since winning the Westminster Show in New York recently, his 126th "best of show" victory which makes him the world's record titleholder of dogdom.

Vickers Named To Bulldog Staff

Jimmy Vickers, All-SEC end last fall with the Georgia Bulldogs, has been named to the Georgia coaching staff by head coach Wally Butts.

The ex-end from Moultrie and last year's alternate captain for the Bulldogs is helping out with the instruction of the varsity ends this spring and in the fall will take over the frosh ends.

Johnny Griffith is head freshman coach.

McGaughey and Gann Earn Dodd's Praise

Georgia Tech's first two football units streaked to five touchdowns, two of them on long, sensational plays, to highlight a spring practice scrimmage session Friday.

The practice was the last for Coach Bobby Dodd's Jackets until after the Easter holidays. The University of Georgia will stage a scrimmage at 10 a.m. Saturday, then break camp for Easter.

Dodd singled out seven players for special praise Friday. He praised center Willie McGaughey for having done "one of the best jobs of any of our players this spring."

Others drawing praise were end Butch Carter, tackle Larry Stallings, halfbacks Billy Williamson and Tom Winingder, quarterback Stan Gann and fullback Mike McNames.

Halfback Billy Williamson scored on a 41-yard run, and Marvin Tibbetts passed 45 yards to Winninger in the most sensational scoring plays.

Other touchdowns came on a one-yard sneak by Gann after a 45-yard run by Zollie Sircy, a one-yard keep by Tibbetts and a six-yard run by Sircy.

Crackers Open Play In Lookout Stadium

Southern California suit — have been given "can't miss" tags.

For balance, the parent club has sent along three veterans of proven ability — centerfielder Jim Williams, left-fielder Jim Koranda and shortstop Gene Wallace. The 33-year-old Williams, long a stickout in AAA and AA ranks, is expected to the carry the biggest stick. Koranda is the righthander power-hitting threat. And Wallace, is expected to team with Harkness to provide some lethal left-handed batting.

Jacobs, one-time Mobile Bear who spent last season with the Columbus, O. Jets in the American Assn., will open with four veteran Lookouts.

Two are former Crackers, rightfielder Roy Hawes, who will bat in the cleanup spot, and shortstop Bobby Willis, native Atlantan. The others are pesky Ernie Oravetz, just arrived from Charleston, in center and Vern Morgan in left. Larry DiPippo, who played first base for Memphis, will be at the initial sack with Eddie Phillips at third.

Veteran Bob Rickard will catch the slants of Greenwood in the opener, and those of southpaws Bob Milo and Don Kildoo in a Sunday double-header that starts at 1:30. Milo was just sent down by the Phils' organization. Kildoo, a present from Pittsburgh, hurled the league's only 1959-no-hitter while toiling for New Orleans. Birmingham was the victim.

The Lookouts, only Friday, were strengthened by addition of outfielder Bert Hamrick, sent down by Miami. But he may not be put on the roster immediately.

Veteran Bob Burns and Matt Pappas, a Southern rookie last season, have been named by new league president Hal Totten to umpire the series.

Snead, Finsterwald Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—Ageless Sam Snead, gunning for his seventh greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament victory, and Dow Finsterwald, seeking to repeat last spring's triumph here, moved into the 36-hole lead Friday with eight under par 134 totals.

At the halfway mark of the $17,500 tournament they were one stroke ahead of Bob Goalby who won his only major circuit event here two years ago.

They were but three of 13 men who shot in the 60s as the 6,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course yielded 20 sub-par scores and 10 others that matched the regulation 71.

Snead, who registers from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., shot a five under par 66. Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., had his second 67. Goalby, playing from Crystal River, Fla., had a 66.

Woods' Single Wins It, 8-5

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

ATHENS — Joe Woods' humpbacked single into center field looked insignificant beside the mighty blacksmith blows exchanged earlier, but it won Auburn an 8-5 Southeastern Conference victory over Georgia here Friday afternoon.

The score was tied 5-5 and the bases jammed when Woods faced relief pitcher John Wyatt in the top of the ninth. Wyatt sneaked in two strikes, but Woods punched a fast ball into center and two runs scored.

It was Woods' third single of the lazy spring afternoon, and on this particular day, the short hit won over the long one.

Tied 3-3 in the bottom of the seventh, Georgia locked the score on one prodigous swing by muscular Phil Ashe, who leaned into an Alan Koch knuckler and sent it spinning high and far over the left field fence, approximately 350 feet from home plate.

The Tigers, fighting for their Eastern Division lives with a 2-2 reading before Friday, erased Ashe's effort with a like weapon,

Right-hander Max Staples, giving one of Georgia's few effective pitching performances, at least up to the ninth, had one out when Breakfield, a southpaw swinger from Birmingham, stepped to the plate in the seventh.

Two pitches and Breakfield had locked the score once more with a cloudbuster to right, 375 feet from the batter's box.

Auburn took the lead for the first time since the opening inning in the eighth on Koch's walk. Jim Douglas' double and Benny Catchings' sacrifice fly.

Never a bashful bunch at the bat, the Bulldogs ripped back to get even again by wrapping Milledge White and Jimmy Rogers a singles around Ashe's walk. But it was oh so short-lived.

The old pitching bugaboo returned in the top of the ninth just when it appeared Staples might become a baseball rarity at Ag Hill this season by going the route.

With one out, Breakfield wrangled a free pass and Harry Daniel doubled to left. Out went Rogers, in came sophomore John Wyatt, who intentionally walked Jack Anderson and gave up the two-run single to Woods.

Out came Wyatt, in came Wil Hall who walked Koch and Douglas to force in another run. Out came Hall, in came first baseman Ashe, who struck out Catchings and got Larry Nichols on a fly ball to end the inning.

BROWN'S HOPE, MICKEY BABB, CROSSES BAR

Ties for Third In High Jump Friday Afternoon

The lumbering Brown high senior with the Li'l Abner build picked up 1,076 points—almost a third of his total—with a winning shot put of 54 feet 4½ inches. He also broad jumped 19 feet 10½ inches to tie for second, high jumped five feet six inches to tie for third and dashed the 100-meters (110 yards) in 11.9 to tie for fourth.

Smoky Poole of Grady and Jimmy Wilbanks of Murphy—grim tenacity lopsiding their faces, tension wadding their hands—pounded home in a 11.5 dead heat to capture the 100-meters.

Poole and Wilbanks also battled step-by-step in the 440-yard dash with Poole winning by four-tenths of a second in 53.4. Poole ranks second in total points with 2,966. Joe Wootten of West Fulton is third with 2,924, Jerry Gibbs of O'Keefe fourth with 2,747 and Wilbanks fifth with 2,729.

Back in the pack John Martin of Smith is sixth with 2,625, Joe Wolfe of Sylvan seventh with 2,543, Don Baxter of Grady eighth with 2,434, Johnny Price of Murphy ninth with 2,423 and Gene Drennon of Druid Hills tenth with 2,319.

Gibbs had a steady if unspectacular performance in all five events and with his specialty—the pole vault—coming up Saturday must be rated as the dark horse, especially since Babb, Poole, Wootten and Wilbanks have no silky history in this event.

Wootten, a whip-thin sprinter, broad jumped 19 feet 11½ inches, one inch farther than Babb and Martin, for first place and tied for first in the high jump, clearing five feet 10 inches with Baxter.

The high hurdles, discus, pole vault, javelin and mile run wind up the competition Saturday at 2 p.m.

CROSSROADS SEEKS TEAM CROWN TODAY

Atlantans R. J. Glichowski, Bill Pace and Frank Hawkins wait and hope Saturday that their Georgia State Men's Bowling Tournament leads will hold up, while the city sends one last team after the team championship at Savannah.

Frank Hawkins

Glichowski, of course, is No. 1 in singles with a sparkling 726 report. Pace paces the all-events scratch with 1,874, and Hawkins' 671 scratch series is a leader.

Mr. Boh of Augusta has a 3,087 chart in the team event, and it's that figure at which Crossroads Restaurant, lone squad left in the tournament, will shoot. On the team will be Alex Strickland, Blair Buelterman, Art Chambers, C. P. Matthews, Larry Simpson and Tom Myers.

Hank Cullum and Fred Farris of Savannah lead in the doubles with 1,341 while Gene Deurwaerder of Rome is best in all-events handicap with 2,024. Smyrna's Jimmy Dickerson is second in singles with 722 and runnerup in all-events handicap with 2,014. Atlanta's The Farm Restaurant is second in team with 3,085 while Hal Evans and Mac McDermott are No. 2 in doubles with a reading of 1,315.

A record number of better than 1,000 singles entries forced the tournament to run an extra day. Most of the remaining singles and doubles outfits are from Savannah.—ATKINSON.

PREP BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Athens Tumbles Marietta

By RAY TAPLEY

Two pitchers combined their talents for a no-hitter and another accomplished the feat unassisted in the features of Friday's high school baseball games.

Russell Buice did the job all by himself for Forsyth County, shutting out Commerce, 2-0. The duo act was staged at Cornelia, where Morris Byers and Larry Barnett enabled South Habersham to swamp North Hall, 17-0.

And pitching no-hit ball wasn't all Buice and Byers did. Buice, who struck out six, doubled in the game's only two runs in the sixth inning. Byers, who took over in the second when Barnett left with a pulled muscle, promptly gave himself a comfortbale working margin with a grand slam home run.

Lanier shut out state Class AAA defending champ Griffin on Sonny Driggers' one-hitter 3-0, and Athens dumped Marietta, 12-5, on the fine relief work of Pete Dickens.

In other games, Buoford's Jerry Smith whitewashed North Gwinnett on three hits, 6-0; Newton County's Larry Wagner hung a 3-1 defeat on Gordon with a three-hit job that just barely overshadowed loser Buddy Garmon's four-hitter; and Carrollton's Jimmy Setzer sat Henry County down on one hit, 2-1.

Dickens, an all-purpose athlete at Athens, relieved Jimmy Yearwood in the first inning and restricted Marietta to three hits thereafter. Athens freshman first baseman Woody Chastain blasted a grand slam homer in a nine-run sixth-inning evplosion. Yearwood — who, like Dickens, catches when not pitching — poled a two run round-tripper and Marietta got four-base blows from David Black and Bobby Cole.

Alvin Herring stole home for one Lanier run and Robert Towe drove in the other two with a single and a double. Setzer struck out 11 for Carrollton, as did loser Patterson for Henry County.

STUDENTS LOOK AT A 1760 SPELLER, THE OLDEST BOOK
Left to Right, Shirley Thompson, Marion Otis Smith, Barbara Smith

Mom's Blue Speller Brings Chuckle

When teen-agers start rummaging through cluttered attics and old trunks, they're likely to turn up all the family secrets and some old, old books.

At Campbell High School in Fairburn, the students did rummage through the family treasures and found some interesting books.

Mrs. Frank M. Hughes, assistant librarian at Campbell and interested in books of course, thought it would be interesting to see what old books the students could dig up.

And they found some real treasures — everything from Mom's old blue-back speller to books on self-education.

Students were asked to bring books published before 1900. The oldest book to find its way among the collection was a speller, published 30 years before George Washington was inaugurated as first president of the United States.

The title page of the old brown-edged book advocated "An Introduction to Spelling and Reading. . . . "To teach them to read well and distinctly in a shorter time than usual."

BOOK MARKS

There were some fancy book marks hidden between the worn pages of many of the books. One was a piece of red grosgrain ribbon reading: "Monroe County Democratic Rally. October 1, 1892."

Another was a little card picturing a sickly looking little girl standing on a staircase in her night gown holding socks and an inhaler pleading, "Oh mamma, may I take menthol inhaler with me, please?"

The marker showed the dated advertising techniques for a menthol inhaler guaranteed to help cure catarrah, hay fever, asthma, headache and neuralgia.

DISPLAYED FOR ALL

Although the book project was begun at Campbell High, students from other schools contributed books too. One day the books were displayed at a department store in Fairburn for the townspeople to view.

Some of the books were "The American Instructor," published in 1779—a self-education book which tells "how to qualify any person for business without the help of a master," an 1835 medical dictionary, and Fleetwood's "Life of Christ."

Several books on the Civil War were brought to the school by Marion Otis Smith, an aspiring 12th grade Civil War book collector.

Marion had one book which he spotted in a bookstore in Atlanta one day and "fell in love with it." However, the book cost $30.90. But Marion was determined to have that big book on his shelf and so he went to work clearing cemetery lots and mowing lawns. Several months later he bought his book.

LIBRARY CHEAPER

However, Marion has found it cheaper to retire to the library for his Civil War adventures.

Some of the students thought they had found some really valuable books in their family homes. But collecting rare books is an art.

To be a collector's item a book must first of all be in good condition and old, says Mrs. Hughes. Its value increases if it has a prominent author, a history and is autographed.

The next rainy day you might try rummaging through the attic and chests and quite by accident you may find such a book worth plenty to collectors.

Lady's Man Has a Big Problem — The Boys Think He's a Square

By MARCY MANNERS

DEAR MISS MANNERS:

I am a 17-year-old boy and seem to have a problem that's different from anyone I know.

I'm very popular with girls, but it's boys that don't seem to like me. The girls all say I am fun and the life of the party.

The boys on the other hand regard me as a square. I don't know why. I am good looking, a good dresser and an excellent dancer. I am also a very good joke teller. Do you think the boys are jealous of me?

TED.

DEAR TED:

By your own admission you are "very popular, good looking, a good dresser, excellent dancer and a very good joke teller."

Are you also considerate of other people? Do you recognize that other boys have as many excellent qualities as you see in yourself? Are you friendly with other boys, or do you spend most of your time being "the life of the party" with the girls?

It is entirely possible that some of the boys may be jealous of your popularity with the girls. However, it is possible that the boys figure that you do not need their friendship as you are such a good friend to yourself. Self-confidence is a virtue provided it stays within human limitations.

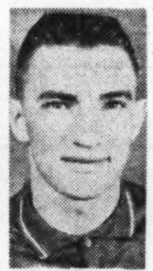
Self-respect is a necessary characteristic of the mature person. Yet we are told that "pride goeth before a fall." Too great self-esteem and too large a sense of one's own importance becomes conceit. The vain person has difficulty making friends.

Don't misunderstand me. I do not question that you are all the things you say you are. You may be quite modest and are merely stating facts. Usually, however, we do not appraise ourselves in such glowing terms. However, if the boys have gotten the idea that you are conceited and think too well of yourself, they will describe you as "square."

Try looking for points of excellence in the boys you know? Let them know that you appreciate their good characteristics. Let someone else give you the compliments. But be interested in the boys rather than in the compliments they may pay you.

Sports Story Wins Award For Athlete

Earl Roberts, a lanky 17-year-old who is an outstanding athlete and school leader, has won a national scholarship awarded by Quill and Scroll.



Earl Roberts

The scholarship was one of 20 given in the United States by the national high school journalism honor society. The award was a $500 scholarship to any school of journalism of Earl's choice.

However, Earl, while interested in writing features for the Chamblee High Blue and Gold has turned down the scholarship to enter Georgia Tech.

Earl, president of the senior class at Chamblee High, is a member of the varsity track and basketball teams there and the DeKalb County all-star basketball team.

The 6-foot 2-inch athlete is sports editor of the high school paper and won the national recognition on a sports feature that appeared in the Blue and Gold.

Tagged with a nickname of "Spider," which he isn't particularly fond of, Earl plans to enter the school of mechanical engineering at Tech. And he hopes to make the basketball team there.

Earl is also a member of the Key Club, Beta Club and National Honor Society. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Roberts Sr., 2774 Redding Rd., NE.

RECORD ROUNDUP

Monaural Owners Welcome New Discs

By BETTY CARROLLTON

One of the smaller recording companies is responsible for a welcome giant step in the disc field: "Compatible" records that can be played on a one-speaker (monaural) system or on a multispeaker (stereophonic) system. Design records are leading the revolution, with other companies expected to follow.

Hi-fi fans welcome the new product that allows them to purchase records now without the worry of having to replace them when they later switch to stereo. And the price of the new albums is in keeping with the teen-ager's record buying budget.

The design "Compatible" Fidelity LPs, which are now available at most record stores for $1.98, are the first to be released that can be played on a regular, monaural high fidelity machine and then used on stereophonic equipment without any damage or loss of fidelity.

Cy Leslie, an executive of the firm issuing the long-awaited product, pointed out that "approximately 80 per cent of the active record buyers in the United States have not yet converted their disc playing equipment to stereo. Surveys have indicated that almost half of them intend to do so sometime in the future. For the record business, this has meant loss of 40 per cent of potential sales, since these people obviously will not buy a monaural record that would fail to give them stereo response when they converted. Nor would they buy a sereo record they can't hear until sometime in the future."

He added that a "stereo record is ruined when played on a monaural set because stereo grooves are too delicate for the heavy, still monaural needle and cartridge." The situation made the development of a compatible record that can be played on both systems without any harm or loss of stereo sound a "must."

Mr. Leslie reported there are 20 albums now in release, representing every category of music, "from Broadway show scores to classical, jazz and popular."

Higher Education

These Marietta high school seniors are shooting high after winning two Lockheed leadership scholarships awarded annually to children of Lockheed Georgia Division employees who are selected for their outstanding scholarship and leadership. Each scholarship is valued at approximately $10,000. L to R, John Fricks Jr., and Bradley K. Martin Jr.

Georgians Vie for Offices At Kansas City Convention

Twenty-five distributive education students from Georgia will attend the National Youth Leadership Conference of Distributive Education Clubs of America in Kansas City, Mo., Wednesday through Saturday.

Two Georgia students will vie for national offices—Robert Wilkinson, Hoke Smith High, Atlanta, for vice president of the Southern region, and Geraldine Exum, Wayne County High, Jesup, for national secretary.

Georgia now has two national officers, R. L. Ogden, vice president, is a former Wayne County High student, and Norman Greene, vice president in charge of public relations, is a former Valdosta High student.

Georgia's delegation will be busy competing in national club contests and serving on conference committees. Monte McKenzie of Hoke Smith High, named Georgia's DE Student of the Year, will be competing for the national honor.

Military Lad Plans First Hunt Sunday

By BETTY CARROLLTON

Probably the most excited prospective Easter egg-hunter in Atlanta this week-end is Steven Soong, who's "almost five years old."

Steven will be attending his first search-for-eggs Sunday, when he will join some 150 other sons and daughters of personnel of the Atlanta General Depot at the annual hunt.

It will be a special event for his parents, too. SP-5 and Mrs. William Soong, natives of Peiping, China, will be attending their first Easter egg hunt.

"Steven is so excited about the event," the youngster's mother reported. "It's all he has talked about this week. He just knows he will find so many eggs he will get one of the bunnies as a prize. We are all looking forward to the egg hunt Sunday."

SP-5 Soong and his attractive wife have known each other all their lives—her older brother is married to his sister—and their families were always close friends. But it was not until they came to the United States on student scholarships that the couple's friendship blossomed, culminating in marriage.

They both came to this country in 1950, where SP-5 Soong completed his education at the University of St. Louis, majoring in air transportation and administration. He was affiliated with TWC Airlines prior to entering the U.S. Army two years ago. He is now assigned to the 48th Transportation Company at the Atlanta General Depot.

Mrs. Soong, also on a student scholarship, completed her education at the University of Illinois, where she majored in physical education, preparatory to a teaching career.

Military life, however, is not new to the Soongs.

COMMANDING GENERAL

"My husband's father was commanding general of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's 29th Army during World War II," Mrs. Soong said. "My father, Gen. L. C. Sun, now retired, commanded the 6th War Zone in World War II. Since his retirement two years ago, he serves as national chairman of the Golf and Tennis Assn. of Formosa, which has one of the most famous golf courses in the Far East."

SP-5 Soong's mother (his father died several years ago) also lives on Formosa, near his wife's parents.

"We have not been home since we came to America," Mrs. Soong disclosed. "Every summer we hope to go, but something has always interfered with our plans. Perhaps next year we will be able to visit our families."

Last Sunday was a red-letter day for the soldier, when he had luncheon at an Atlanta hotel with four distinguished visitors from Formosa—two lieutenant generals and two major generals—who are friends of the young couple's families. It was something of a reunion for SP-5 Soong and Maj. Gen. T. C. Yin: Gen. Yin has served under the Atlantan's father, Gen. Soong.

QUITE MILD

The Soongs declare they like Atlanta and Atlantans "very much." Even taking into account the area's unusual weather this past winter, Mrs. Soong said the climate here is "quite mild" compared to that of her native Peiping. "There the climate is similar to this country's New England states," she said.

The young homemaker declared she is "not a very good cook."

"But I particularly like the Southern cooking," she revealed. "I am impressed by the importance Southern homemakers place on food and its preparation."

Next March will be THE month for the Soongs:

"That is when we will become citizens of the United States," Mrs. Soong revealed.

Mrs. Bash Wins New Pen Award

An Atlantan, Mrs. H. M. Bash Jr., was judged national winner last week of first prize in trade journal writing by the National League of American Pen Women—a prize never offered before by the organization.

The prize was awarded at the Pen Women's conference held in Washington, though Mrs. Bash was not present to receive it. She won it on a story she wrote for The Restaurant Equipment Dealer entitled "It's a Man's World, but Here Come the Ladies."

"There are only two women in the United States who sell restaurant equipment," explained Mrs. Bash, mother of a young daughter and son. "They are Mrs. Wilma Chastain of Atlanta and Miss Mary Garrett of Rome. I based my story on their success."

Writing for publication is not new to Mrs. Bash, whom Atlanta Pen Women recently chose for their first vice president. She is Atlanta marketing editor for three trade magazines, and Atlanta representative for two others. In fact, she has been writing ever since her graduation from the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina.

"I was first with the Methodist Publishing House in Nashville, and later was editor of The Southern Dairy Products Journal," she said. "During the war I wrote weekly radio scripts for the regional office of Civil Defense."

Mrs. Bash has also had her work published in national magazines dealing with the home, garden and parents.

A NEW ADDRESS for Mr. and Mrs. James T. Mills and their children, Helen, Betsy, Jimmy and Mary Anne, will be 44 Putnam Dr. after May 1 when they take possession of their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlap will move into their present home at 6665 Darlington Cir.

GINNY GAINES arrived yesterday from the University of Georgia for Easter, bringing as her guest her Chi Omega sorority sister, Carla Rentz of Miami. They are guests until Sunday of Miss Gaines' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Gaines of Dover road.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY INDELL and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Eichenlaub left yesterday for Savannah where they boarded the Norwegian America liner Bergensfjord for a week's cruise in Caribbean waters, during which they will visit San Juan, Puerto Rico, and St. Thomas Island.

HELEN DAVIS arrived yesterday from the University of Georgia to spend Easter weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Davis of Wesley drive. She brought as her guest her classmate, Debbie Hillow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amen Hillow of Washington, D.C.

DR. AND MRS. HOWARD L. BLEICH of Boston are the Easter guests of their uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. J. Kelvin Bleich on W. Wesley road.

Dr. Howard Bleich is interning at the New England Medical Center in Boston, but he and Mrs. Bleich expect to return to Atlanta in July, and he will continue his medical work at Grady Hospital.

AN ATLANTAN, JUDITH ANN LEIBOLD, has been chosen president of Mortar Board at the University of Alabama. She was one of 18 members tapped in the annual spring ceremony for this highest honor bestowed upon women students at the university. Judith Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Leibold.

ELEVEN STUDENTS were initiated recently into the Georgia State College chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi. They include Anne Garrett, Nina Park, Barbara and Maurya Sullivan and Frances Taylor of Decatur, Martha Ann Hill, Mary Elizabeth Mann, Angela Rowan and Anne Webb of Atlanta, and Shirley Starr of East Point.

Andrew Ruska To Speak to Desk Club

Andrew J. Ruska, public relations representative of Shell Oil Co., will speak at the Atlanta Desk and Derrick Club meeting at 6 p.m. Monday, April 18.

Mr. Ruska's topic will be "Taking the Mystery Out of Gasoline Prices." The meeting will be held at the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Mrs. Roberts Is Wed to Mr. Lambert

The marriage of Mrs. Betty Roberts of Atlanta, formerly of Augusta, to E. F. Lambert of Atlanta was solemnized on Friday, April 15.

The couple plans to reside in Oakland City.

Easter Is a Time for Doing Many Things

Easter means many things to many people and here's some of the small fry in a prevue of the glorious day as little Peter Cottontail made merry. At the upper left is Terry McLendon in his crib at Grady Hospital having a gay time with one of fifty hand puppets designed and made for a small child's hand by members of the Sagamore Starlight Garden Club. The club made many story-book characters from eggs as well as the hand puppets. At the right, a modern Peter Rabbit chose two-year-old Dona Howell, daughter of Mrs. Donald Howell, as his playmate when he arrived by helicopter at Lenox Square. In the lower picture is the unusual group at the "Easter Down South" tableau at the Ben Hill School. Miss Lil Connell, a sixth grade teacher at the school, conceived the idea and made the figures of wire and papier mache. (Photos by Billy Downs and Dwight Ross)

New Paris Fashions Interest Russians

PARIS (WNS)—Serge Koulichev, head of Moscow's biggest dressmaking organization, says that the time has come to introduce Paris fashions for Russian women.

Koulichev, along with his head designer, an attractive 30-year-old blonde named Alexandra Effremova, has been here to attend summer fashion shows. Though the French designers last year staged a fashion show in Moscow which was a tremendous success, this is the first time that a Soviet fashion executive has ever attended the semi-annual Paris event.

"We have made big style advances during the past few years and we aren't as far behind as is commonly believed in Western countries," Koulichev said. The Soviet woman today can be very well dressed by any standard, if she cares to be.

"But many of them are not certain how to accomplish this.

From the production standpoint, Soviet dressmaking really has far more in common with the American rather than the French system. "We must have mass production of the latest and best styles," he explained. "The need to have these in production very quickly will be increasing as the awareness of Soviet women grows. Someday, it will be just as much of a problem for us as it is now for the Americans."

But, Mme. Effremova added that the inspiration must come from Paris. "No one doubts that," she said.

In the past, Moscow has received Western fashions sometimes as much as third or fourth hand, through German or Swedish fashion magazines and patterns. This has not proved very satisfactory.

The Russians eventually hope to have some of their most promising designers study in Paris. "But that," Koulichev added, "is in the future."

He had one criticism of Paris fashion, however. "The models resemble actresses more than they do the women who will wear the dresses," he said. "In Moscow, our models are more natural."

Private School Chartered in Tift

TIFTON—Three Tift County citizens obtained a charter for organizing a standby private school system, the third group in the state to organize this week.

Rep. Henry Bostick, county school superintendent Guy Taylor and school board member Bob Reinhardt obtained a charter for Tift County Private Schools Inc., as a move to guarantee segregated schools in the county.

Bostick said he doubts the agency will ever have to take over but if it does, "we plan to continue school in the present public school buildings until we are kicked out."

He said two corporations eventually will be formed, the first profit-making and the second, nonprofit. If one is invalidated, he said, operations will continue under the other.

Waynesboro citizens, who met Tuesday night, were the first to prepare for possible use of a private school system. Dublin citizens organized Thursday night.

Lay To Pay Dividend of 5 Pct. in May

H. W. Lay & Co., Inc., Friday announced a 5 per cent stock dividend will be paid shareholders next month as a result of sharply increased sales and earnings during the first half of its current fiscal year.

Herman W. Lay, chairman and president of the Chamblee-headquartered snack food firm, said the stock dividend is payable in Class A common stock on May 20 to common and to Class A common stock holders of record May 10.

He reported sales of $14,437,298 for the 28 weeks ended March 13 were 29 per cent over the $11,161,013 for the corresponding period a year ago, and attributed 6 per cent of the increase to the sales of two divisions the company acquired in mergers during 1959.

Lay also reported net profits rose to $670,299, equal to 99 cents per share of outstanding common and Class A common stock, in the latest 28-week period, from $495,815, or 73 cents a share, in the same period a year ago.

Tax Refund Deadline Runs Out

Although Uncle Sam extended the April 15 federal income tax deadline until midnight Monday, he did not have the power to extend the deadline for filing claims for 1956 refunds.

As the deadline passed at midnight Friday, A. C. Ross, district director of the U.S. Revenue Service in Atlanta, sighed:

"We anticipate there are going to be a lot of folks who, if they file claims for 1956 refunds after midnight April 15, 1960, are going to be mad when they get a notice from us that the claim will be disallowed," Ross said.

The tax official explained that the three-year period of limitations for filing claims for refunds on 1956 individual returns ended at midnight Friday. That deadline could not be extended, he said, because it had been fixed by law. The April 18 extension on filing 1959 returns was an administrative rather than a legal extension, he said.

He said that 1959 returns—whether they are refund, or additional tax—will be accepted without penalty if postmarked before midnight Monday.

Taxpayers still have until April 15, 1961 to file claims for 1957 refunds and until April 15, 1962 to file 1958 refund claims, he said.

Trucker Indicted In Pedestrian Death

An Atlanta man whose pickup truck was involved in a downtown collision which resulted in the death of a pedestrian was indicted Friday on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

The Fulton County Grand Jury returned an indictment against John T. Eidson, 48, of 234 Lamon Ave., SE, charging him with the death of D. J. Whetstone, 53. Whetstone died after being knocked through a plateglass window.

The indictment charges that Eidson overran a red light at Decatur and Pryor streets, SE, striking a car driven by Plad Taylor of Conyers. Taylor lost control of his car and struck Whetstone, who was walking along Pryor street, the indictment says.
